FOURTH PLAN FOR WORLD COURT UP

Senator Pepper Prepares His Views to Submit To Senate Soon

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service. WASHINGTON, May 16.—A new world court plan will make its bow to the Senate and the country in a few days. It will bear the authorship of Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, an earnest advocate of the settlement of international disputes by justifiable methods, and who presided recently over the public hearings on the issue held by a Senate subcommittee.

Fourth on List Senator Pepper's court project will be the fourth to take its place on the Senate's pending file. Its predecessors are the Harding-Hughes original proposal to join the present court under the League of Nations; the Lenroot plan, modifying the original proposal in many particulars; and the Lodge plan for creation of a new court entirely divorced from the league, presented only a week ago.

Senator Pepper said today his would be "a composite" world court proposal, in that it would embody the principles outlined by the late President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes in their plan; the reservations laid down by Hughes, and the composite ideas of other members of the Senate committee on foreign relations.

He is hopeful of getting some action on his proposal at this session of Congress, notwithstanding the prospect of adjournment on June 7. The chances are, however, that the Pepper plan will join the Harding, Hughes, Lenroot and Lodge plans in the committee's pigeon holes until next session, at least, allowing the whole issue to be threshed out in the approaching campaign.

FIRE MENACE IN HOMES REVEALED

Stevens Mentions Thirty of Existing Dangers in Talk at Luncheon

There are upwards of thirty fire hazards in each home, Jay W. Stevens, state fire commissioner, told members of the Kiwanis club, and their guests, members of the Rotary club, at the Kiwanis club meeting held today noon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Any one of these hazards is the same as a dynamite bomb and carries death and destruction, Marshall Stevens said. Believing, as he said, that people learn by what they see and not by what they hear, he gave two demonstrations. The first was the use of a certain stove polish, from which a vapor arose that was easily ignited with an electric spark; and the other was the danger attending electrical wires wrapped around a nail or any metal.

Using an ordinary transformer, a fuse block and several feet of insulated wire, Marshall Stevens showed what happened when the circuit was shorted. To further drive home his point, he placed a penny back of the useless fuse, and again made the connection. Within a few minutes, a blaze started. Glendale's greatest need, he said, is more equipment for fire fighting and additional firemen. The city is due for a great conflagration, he predicted, and the expected help from other cities may not be able to come on account of fires of their own, the same as happened at the time of the Berkeley fire, he said. Members of the club agreed.

NEW RELIEF BILL HELD FEASIBLE

Involves No Appropriations, Marketing Machinery Or Interference

By DAVID LAWRENCE Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924 WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Coolidge and his cabinet are considering a new plan for agricultural relief proposed by the international farm congress and suggested by W. I. Drummond, chairman of its board of governors. It may prove a substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill.

Although it is not politics for them to say so at this time, some of the proponents of the McNary-Haugen bill are ready to accept the new plan. Informally some members of the administration have approved it. For, briefly, it involves no excessive government appropriations, no marketing machinery of a governmental kind, no interference by the government in private business, no requirement to merchandise any portion of farm products or any disturbance of existing channels of trade.

But it does involve the use of the principle of the protective tariff. Here are the essential points in the scheme:

Essential Points "Whenever the president finds that there is a surplus for export of a principal agricultural or livestock product together with a world price-basis of such a product so low as to cause distress to American producers thereof by reason of the price received for the exportable portion controlling and depressing the domestic price, he shall declare an emergency in respect to the product concerned. "Whenever an emergency has been so declared, an export equalization fee shall be paid upon such portion of the product concerned as is exported. Such a fee shall be approximately equivalent to the tariff upon imports into the United States of the product concerned, per unit of such product, less a sufficient percentage to prevent excessive imports. "An excise tax shall be levied upon all of the product concerned which is sold during the emergency period. The excise tax

SPENDS FORTUNE ON LIQUOR, CLAIM

George Remus Tells Probers He Paid $2,000,000 for Protection, Permits

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Expenditure of nearly $2,000,000 for protection and liquor withdrawal permits was admitted today before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee by George Remus, millionaire Cincinnati bootlegger, now serving a sentence in the Atlanta federal prison for violating the Volstead act.

Of this amount, Remus said that he paid in "between $200,000 and $250,000" to the late Jesse Smith, friend and confidant of the late Attorney General Harry Daugherty. His first payment to Smith, Remus declared, consisted of fifty $1000 bills. He said the permits were signed by Prohibition Directors Hart of New York and McConnell of Pennsylvania, and maintained that the withdrawals were legal.

Bright Lights of Broadway May Be Dimmed for Meet

NEW YORK, May 16.—The gay white way will be very dim when out of town visitors arrive here for the Democratic national convention next month, it was predicted along Broadway today.

Ten of the brightest places in the bright light district have been closed and, it is reported, the end is not yet. The latest place padlocked was the Piccadilly-Rendezvous, extinguished last night by Ralph H. Oyler, chief of the local federal narcotic squad.

Anti-War Resolution Of Methodists Is Attacked

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 16.—The radical anti-war resolution, recommended to the Methodist general conference by the committee on state of the church, was bitterly assailed today by William H. Van Benschoten, lay delegate from New York.

He declared the resolution, if adopted, would throw the American flag from the churches and said that an organization which will not fight to defend its country when assaulted cannot live and work beneath the folds of its flag.

The resolution denounces war and places the church on record as unwilling to engage in it. Judge Henry M. Rogers of New York, chairman of the committee on judiciary, presented a report, sustaining the constitutionality of the anti-war system. A request for a ruling had been submitted by the California conference.

This decision by the committee coupled with the report of the committee on Episcopacy against abolition of the system will tend to make the anti-war system the rule of the church for a long time to come.

Increases in salaries of pastors estimated to amount in all to more than $3,500,000 in the past year, have so upset the estimates of the Episcopal fund that the committee on book concerns now recommends a readjustment. The committee recommends the apportionment be so fixed that the surplus at the end of any year shall not exceed $150,000.

KIDS ARE BUSY PUTTING FINAL TOUCH TO KITES

Breeze Bucking Beauties to Soar in Tournament at School Tomorrow

The kite flying aspirants will congregate tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock on the Broadway High school grounds to participate in Glendale's second annual kite flying contest, which is being put on by R. Ernest Tucker, in charge of the Glendale Community Service department of the Chamber of Commerce.

Although the events do not start until 10 o'clock all kites must be on hand before that time to be classified. All youngsters of this city are eligible for the contest. Last year a large number of boys were entered in the kite-fest but Mr. Tucker expects a double turnout this time. Ribbons and honorable mention certificates will be awarded as well as points. First place in each event will be given a blue ribbon and five points. Second place gets a red ribbon and three points, while third place receives a white ribbon and one point.

A silver loving cup will be given to the contestant having the highest total of points at the end. All prizes will be awarded after the contest is over. The following are the six events on the program:

- List of Events First—Best decorated kite. Most artistic kite. Best novelty. Second—Best box kite. Best bow kite. Best tail kite. Third—Smallest kite under five feet. Largest kite over five feet. Fourth—Construction race. Materials to be used in this race must be presented for inspection to the judges before race starts. Kite of any type to be constructed on field and flown at end of fifty feet of string. Fifth—One-eighth mile dash: reels. One-eighth mile of string to be played out and kite pulled back to starting point with string neatly wound. Reels of any type may be used in this event, although they are not necessary. Any style of kite. Entrants in this event must bring their string to be measured preceding the contest. Sixth—Strongest puller. To be measured by the amount of pull on spring scales. Honorable mention certificates will be given those making a showing that falls just short of winning a ribbon. Special mention certificates will be given to all entrants making a creditable showing in any event. Prizes will be awarded at the end of the day. All kites entered in the contest must fly to the satisfaction of the judges. This rule applies to fancy, artistic and novelty kites. One assistant will be allowed each contestant in the events. Walter F. Hansen and James G. Baillie of the manual training department of the city schools are assisting Mr. Tucker in the kite contest.

HOLD BONUS REPLY IS INSULT

Advocates of Bill Declare President's Attack Is Most Unwarranted

By GEORGE R. HOLMES For International News Service. WASHINGTON, May 16.—Congress boiled and fumed today over President Coolidge's veto of the soldiers' bonus insurance bill.

No other issue that has arisen between the executive and legislative branches of the government has provoked so much angry comment at the capitol as the sharp and pointed communication in which Mr. Coolidge expressed his disapproval of the bonus measure.

Was Expected The veto itself, on the broad ground of governmental economy, caused little surprise, for it had been universally expected. What caused the fuming and fretting today was the president's scathing attack of the bonus from the standpoint of patriotism and morality.

"We must either abandon our theory of patriotism or abandon this bill," said the president. "We owe no bonus to the able-bodied soldiers of the world war. Their first duty was to their country. There is no moral justification for it."

Legislators in both houses who labored unceasingly for adjusted compensation, denounced the president's message "as an insult to ex-service men" and declared the bill would be put through with a whoop over Mr. Coolidge's disapproval.

Both Sides Certain In the Senate which probably will act on Monday or Tuesday, the lines are more closely drawn than in the House. Bonus advocates calmed today to have a margin of four or five votes above the necessary two-thirds to repass the bill over the White House rejection. This claim, however, was privately disputed by the president's friends. They predicted the bonus will be beaten in the Senate as was the Bureau pension bill a few days ago, possibly by a margin so narrow as one vote.

To unprejudiced observers it appeared the vote will be extremely close, with chances pointing to a bonus victory. The lines are so closely drawn, however, that a couple of senators absenting themselves from the chamber at voting time might swing the result either way.

May Affect Race What political effect the bonus veto will have on President Coolidge's candidacy to succeed himself as a matter of keen speculation in the capital today wherever politicians gathered. And here, too, was a marked division of opinion. Democrats generally, and some Republicans, expressed the belief that Mr. Coolidge "has lost the soldier vote," not so much because of his disapproval of the bill itself as his sharp attack on the morality of the bonus. On the other hand, many political leaders decried "bloc" voting of any sort. They assert that the much discussed "labor vote" generally has proved a myth when election time came and it is their belief that world war veterans will not vote as a unit or anything approaching it. November holds the answer to this, as in many other things.

HOUSE WILL PASS BILL IN SPITE OF VETO

Action of Senate Is Still In Doubt; Vote to Occur Saturday

BULLETIN! WASHINGTON, May 16.—Dr. David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California, accompanied by Congressman Walter F. Lineberger of Long Beach and Los Angeles, had a twenty-minute talk with President Coolidge today and protested against Philippine independence.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Coolidge's veto of the soldiers' bonus measure will be overridden Saturday, when the vote is scheduled to take place, if the decision shall be left to the California delegation in congress, a canvass today showed.

WALTER F. LINEBERGER of Long Beach and Los Angeles said: "You don't have to ask me. I most certainly will vote to override the president's veto."

JAMES H. McLAFFERTY of Alameda and Oakland said: "I regret that I have only one vote to give for the boys."

To Override Veto JOHN RAKER of Alturas said: "Why, most assuredly, I seldom commit myself in advance, but upon this I have no hesitancy in saying I will vote to override the veto."

HENRY E. BRABOUR of Fresno said: "It is my present intention to vote to override the veto, and I am positive. I will not change my opinion."

PHIL D. SWING of El Centro said: "My mind was made up about the soldiers' bonus before I knew the president. I will vote to override his veto of the measure."

Sen. to be in Doubt The House of Representatives, when the measure originated, and to which the president addressed a statement giving his reasons for disapproval, has voted to consider it on Saturday.

The adjusted compensation bill was passed by huge majorities in both House and Senate. There is no doubt that it will be put through over the veto in the lower body. Sentiment in the Senate, however, leaves the matter in some doubt.

the occasion. On the table was placed a beautifully decorated bannet containing two baby dolls. Around the bannet were banded Cecil Brunner roses and fern. Here the many lovely gifts, all tied in pink ribbons, were grouped.Tall glass vases containing a pink rosebud and tied with pink ribbons were also used in the decorations.A shower of pink roses and ferns was suspended from the chandelier directly above the table.The afternoon was devoted to

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Appleton

groom just twenty-seven years ago.Their two daughters, Mrs. Elmer F. Smith and Mrs. Richard
L. Grauel invited a group of Los Angeles and Hollywood friends to the anniversary celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Appleton were in total ignorance of the affair until they were called to the door to find their unexpected guests.Games and music were enjoyed during the evening and at a late hour a beautiful gold and white cake, bearing the initials of the Appletons and 1897 and 1924 was cut and served with luncheon.Mr. and Mrs. Appleton were married May 14, 1897 in Pitts-

GILHULY SCORES DELAY IN START OF STREET WORK

Contracts for Improvements Should Be Rushed as Aid to Business

Long delays in street work and improvements, the contracts for which have been let, came in for criticism at the City Council meeting yesterday by Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, who advocated that all work under contemplation be started at once to give employment to a number of men who had been without work for some time.

"We have in the city projects, the contracts for which were let eight months ago, and on which the contractors claim that they are unable to get the material. The city should cause the contractor to impress upon the manufacturers furnishing the material that it is essential that work be rushed, and if necessary, to put on two shifts," said Councilman Gilhuly.

Scores Extensions
 "In addition to providing work for a good number of men, it would put money in circulation in Glendale. I do not believe that the council should grant these sixty and ninety days' extensions on contracts when men are looking for work."

Mr. Gilhuly cited as examples the alleys in the business district which are badly in need of repair. The contract for this work was let eight months ago, yet nothing has been done. Practically all the work in the Grand View district has been ordered in. He stated that it was necessary to have the money in the city treasury before this work could start. The bonds can be sold under the Vrooman act, and assessed against the property.

"I know of several men who have purchased homes in Glendale who wish to make this city their residence. Yet they are unable to meet their payments owing to lack of employment. They are men who would gladly work on the street. They will be compelled to leave this city unless something is done."

Mr. Gilhuly believes that by putting on additional gangs and speeding up construction on the production of materials, that thousands of dollars would be made available for deserving men, and as a result conditions would readily become more stable.

"Los Angeles is undertaking a $3,000,000 street program for this very purpose. We should follow suit. There is no reason why this work should be allowed to drag along indefinitely," said the councilman.

Despite the precautions taken, the foot and mouth broke out in Tujunga. A sheik phoned his sweetie at Burbank and bounced the loving chin so long that it took a week's wages to foot the bill.

Here's a note from Prudence Penny. Don't you believe it? Honest, we have it right here. It says: "In compiling my next cook book your 'Graham Cracker' column will be included as a recipe for crisp tid-bits."

Senior Class at Oxy To Give Greek Drama

Miss Margaret Crawford of Pasadena will be seen in the role of Agave, in the forthcoming Greek production, "The Bacchanales," which will be presented on the Occidental college campus by the Senior class on June 12. Miss Crawford is a talented actress and has taken part in numerous college plays during her stay at Occidental. The entire cast is practicing regularly under the able direction of Gilmore Brown, manager of the Pasadena Community Players, and will present a first-class performance at commencement. For the second time the graduating class has chosen to turn from the usual custom of giving musical comedy or strictly modern drama and has undertaken a much greater task, the production of Greek drama.

AGED NEWSPAPER SHOWS CONTRAST TO TODAY'S TYPE

Connecticut Courant Issue
Urges Henry Clay for U. S. Presidency

Joseph N. Olmsted, 88-year-old member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, who was given recognition last week in the columns of The News for going to the polls to cast his ballot, writes that he voted for Abraham Lincoln in 1860. Furthermore, he states that he knew Lincoln when he debated with Stephen A. Douglas.

Mr. Olmsted incloses with his note a copy of the Connecticut Courant, published in Hartford, Conn., the site of Yale university, June 1, 1844, when he was 8 years 1 month old. This interesting old newspaper, which presents a very different appearance from the newspapers of today, is fascinating to read. In its columns one may read:

"For president, Henry Clay of Kentucky; for vice president, Theodore Frelinghuysen of New Jersey."

"Wanted, immediately, one or two journeymen harness makers, to whom steady employment will be given."

Mail Contracts
 "The Liverpool Mails: The contract between the proprietors of the Cunard line of steamers and the British government for the conveyance of the mails, semi-monthly, between Liverpool, Halifax and London has been renewed for ten years."

"Our New Orleans papers of the 19th inst. received this morning brings us accounts of a most disastrous fire which occurred in that city the day previous. The total loss is estimated at $239,500; number of main buildings destroyed, 175; of outbuildings, 100. The number of persons left homeless by the distressing calamity cannot fall short of 2,000."

"Young Lady's and Gentleman's Magazine or Parlor Annual" will appear monthly in the most finished style of modern elegance. Each number will contain two embellishments, one steel and one colored engraving and a piece of music. Any clergyman, theologian, student or other person for-warding the agent at Hartford five subscribers and payment in advance shall have the magazine gratis.

Suggests Draft
 "An inquiry, when the committee of the state prison were in the city on their return from a visit to Wethersfield, did the warden and gentleman warden present each member with a passage ticket? and if yea, does the amount go to the account of 'incidents' or to soft soap?"

"On Monday last Cynthia Roberts of Justice Mann for assault and battery on Sarah Ann Bunnell, a little girl about 7 or 8 years old, who was bound out to service to William J. Roberts, the husband of Cynthia, by the selectmen of Farmington. The testimony was ample to prove the cruelty charged, and the court sentenced the wife on each complaint to 30 days' imprisonment in the workhouse and a fine of $7 and costs, and to stand imprisoned till paid. William J. Roberts for countenancing and aiding in this cruelty was also fined and imprisoned for the same time and amount."

"Confectionery, English peppermint, also Wintergreen, Sassafras, Rose, Pepper, Ginger, Soda and Coltsfoot Lozenges for sale at the sign of the 'Good Samaritan.'"

School Commences
 "Ellington school, the summer term of this institution, will commence on Wednesday, the 12th day of June, and continue eleven weeks, under the charge of Mr. Little of New Haven, a gentleman of superior talents, as recommended by the faculty of Yale college, and also under the superintendence of a good female teacher. The whole expense for a scholar at this institution for a year, or the four terms of eleven weeks each, will not exceed $85."

"75 Carriages for sale at the Carriage Repository in Pearl street: Coaches, Diekys, Seat Barouches, Charities, light buggies, Rockaway wagons, a new and convenient family carriage, gigs, sulkeys and one large family wagon."

"East Hartford High school for ladies and gentlemen is now in session. A few pupils can be accommodated with board in the family of the principal. A young man is wanted to do work in the garden."

Insurance Companies
 "Aetna Insurance company, incorporated in 1819 for the purpose of insuring against loss and damage by fire; capital, $200,000."

"Hartford Fire Insurance company, oldest of the kind in the state, having been established more than 30 years. It is incorporated with a capital of $150,000."

While advertising is very prevalent in the columns of the Courant and news is very scarce, the advertising is presented in a stereotyped fashion and lacks the display effects of that in modern newspapers.

Mr. Olmsted, who was born in Windsor, Conn., reads this old paper with interest, for in his boyhood days the weekly Courant was a very necessary part of their family life.

Episcopal Rector Praises News for Church Publicity

The Glendale Evening News is again complimented on serving Glendale people. Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church and secretary of the convocation of the Los Angeles Diocese of the Episcopal church, meeting Wednesday of this week in Glendale, writes in commendation of the publicity given in the columns of The News.

Glendale churches are receiving hearty co-operation and support from this newspaper and Mr. Kemp voices appreciation of this spirit in a note expressing thanks for the splendid publicity given the convocation gathering.

SAYS 'STARVING GERMANS' MYTH

Traveler Reports Unusual Conditions Found in Tour of Europe

That the "starving Germans" are not so hungry as they have been made out, is the contention of one who signs himself "G. W. D.," writing in the Paris edition of The New York Herald, and says he is the mayor of a city on the Pacific coast.

The article, mailed from London, England, to The Glendale Evening News by Henry E. Brockway of the Harrower laboratory, 920 East Broadway, is given in full below:

"Just before leaving home, about two months ago, I organized a committee to do our share in the national campaign to raise funds in behalf of the starving children of Germany. We were told that if we did not raise several millions of dollars in America something like two million German children would die of starvation before spring."

"Now, for the past six weeks I have been in various countries of the Mediterranean and about three weeks in Italy, and everywhere I go the Germans seem to outnumber all other tourists combined."

"They demand and get the best of accommodations and have plenty of money to spend for champagne, guides, high living and for shopping. Their women are well groomed and wear an extraordinary amount of jewelry."

Never Wait Turn
 "In addition, most of these Germans are a crowding, elbowing lot, such as we seldom if ever see in decent society. They are never willing to wait their turn at a ticket window or elsewhere, but push right in at the head of the line, no matter how long others have been waiting."

"You may imagine, then, with what emotions we Americans read of the ten-million-dollar appropriation by the House of Representatives for the benefit of the 'starving Germans.'"

"The German people have been humbugging the whole world (except France) for the last five years, and I think it is high time to open our eyes. Just so long as she can avoid her just obligations she will do so, and if we feed her children they will spend their money in high living. I have always admired France, and never more than at the present time, and I hope she maintains her advantage over Germany in spite of all the silly sentimentalities of the world."

PLANS TO SPEND HOLIDAY ABROAD

High School Instructor and Relatives Will Sail
On Belgenland

Walter Gorman, instructor in the manual arts department of the Glendale Union High school, whose students made the wooden model of the U. S. Shipping Board vessel Accomac, now on display in the windows of the Atlas Steamship agency at 119 East Broadway, has booked passage to Europe on the giant Red Star liner Belgenland, one of the greatest vessels afloat, which sails from New York early in July.

Mr. Gorman will leave Glendale on June 23, states J. M. Powers of the Atlas agency, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Levell, her daughter, Miss June Levell, of 215 West Chestnut street. They will be joined en route by Mrs. Flora Perham, a friend of the family.

The party will return to the United States on the White Star liner Homeric, another giant ship, which sails from Liverpool, England, August 20. During the late war Walter Gorman was employed as an architect in the U. S. Shipping Board service, and designed many of the vessels turned out by them to break the submarine blockade.

MADRIGAL CLUB'S AUDIENCE HEARS SEASON'S FINALE

Brilliant Program Presented
By John Smallman and Talented Singers

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
 Of The Evening News Staff.
 The grand finale of the fifth season of the Madrigal club was the spring concert last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club-house, where the club singers and the assisting artist, John Smallman, sang to a large audience, which accorded them a justly deserved ovation.

Madrigal concerts have come to be feature events of musical life in Glendale and Mrs. Charles A. Parker, founder and organizer of the club, may be justly proud of the title, "Mother of the Club."

Added honor for Mrs. Parker is her accomplishment as director of the club. When the Madrigals sing, their audiences are conscious of harmonious choral work brought about through the blending of well trained voices responding to the direction of a talented leader.

Organization Grows
 Since the organization of the club five years ago its splendid spirit of fellowship has attracted much attention and has resulted in the development of the organization.

Much of the success of the closing season is due the president, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, who, in addition to being a most capable executive, is a woman of pleasing personality. She has devoted herself unreservedly to club affairs and placed administrative matters on an efficient basis.

The program last night opened with three ensemble numbers by the club, a springtime lyric, "A Madrigal in May" (Newton-Salter); a sweet love song, "To Me Thou Art a Flower" (Rubenstein); and "Persian Serenade" (Matthews).

Club Group Sings
 Later, in the first part of the program, the club group sang "Tomorrow" (Arthur Foote) and the much-loved old song, "Oft in the Stilly Night" (harmonized by Vogrich). With Mrs. J. Ray Bent-

Street Parade Feature Of Girl Scout Carnival

One of the novel features that will herald the opening of the carnival to be held by the Girl Scouts of Troop 2, at the Harvard Street High school Saturday night, will be the street parade at 10 o'clock when the members of the troop will appear in fancy costume, mounted on the beautiful horses that have been donated by the Elysian Park Riding Academy.

The headliners from the Orpheum circuit, who are scheduled to appear on the program to be given at 8 o'clock in the auditorium, will be ably supplemented by some splendid local talent.

Work is progressing rapidly on the booths in the gymnasium, where the concessions will be open to visitors from 6:30 o'clock until closing at 12.

1924 SEASON TO SET NEW RECORD IN REALTY TIDE

Hotels Booked Up Solid for Summer; Railroads Are Taxed to Limit

Railroad and hotel men agree with officials of the All-Year club of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and of the Automobile Club of Southern California that the 1924 summer tourist season will shatter all records.

The summer railroad business will over top that of last year by at least 20 per cent, agree F. S. McGinnis of the Southern Pacific, James B. Duffy of the Santa Fe and T. C. Peck of the Union Pacific, while investigation reveals that such hotels as the Biltmore, Alexandria, Van Nuys, Ambassador and Clark in Los Angeles and leading Hollywood, Pasadena and beach hotels are practically booked solid, with the exception of a few rooms always held open for transient guests.

The tremendous advertising campaign now in progress by the All-Year club is accomplishing wonderful results, according to its secretary, C. G. Milham; and M. B. Towman, Glendale manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, states the national highways are heavy with west-bound cars.

Colonel Sellers had it right. The Chinese last year bought 100,000 pairs of eyeglasses in the city of Hong Kong alone.

SCOUTS TO CAMP AT CATALINA ON SUMMER HOLIDAY

Every Outdoor Sport Will Be Provided for Boys on Island Vacation

A Boy Scout paradise of swimming, fishing, boating, games, campfires, exploring sea caves and mountains is inviting Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District Council to the summer vacation camps at Catalina island June 24 to July 2 and from July 2 to July 10.

Harvey R. Cheesman, local Scout executive, has outlined the camp program in inviting folders for the Scouts and Scout leaders, and the only rule governing admission to the camp is "first come, first served." In short, the boys who get their reservations in first will be the lucky ones.

The camp will be held at Johnson's landing, Verdugo Hills Scouts' exclusive camp site, where successful outings were held last year.

Build Character
 "These camps are wonderful for the boys," says Mr. Cheesman, "for they not only give chance for physical recreation and development, but the association of camp life tends to character building."

Mr. Cheesman's message to every Scout is, "Well, Scout, what do you like to do? Eat? I'll say you'll eat! Swim? Twice a day, using the best swimming beach on Catalina island. Sand beach with gentle slope. Fish? The ocean is full of them. Just pull them out. Boating? Sure, we will have four row boats constantly in use. Explore? Wild, high mountains and mysterious sea caves invite you. Test advancement? Sure, all the tests you want. Games? Inter-patrol games every day. Campfires? Yes, every evening with yells, songs, stunts, adventure stories and ghost stories."

Constant Supervision
 "Tell dad and mother that we have all sorts of first aid supplies and know how to use them. That there is a telephone and doctor at the isthmus only four and a half miles away. That all camp activities, hikes and swimming are carefully supervised by several experienced adult leaders. That to tell the truth you are far safer

Daily Greeting To News Readers

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet,

TRAFFIC COMMISSION REPORT

The first report of the Glendale Traffic commission, recently appointed by the City Council, was submitted to the council yesterday and published in full in the columns of The Glendale Evening News. The report shows that the commission is making a careful study of the city's traffic problems and the members should receive hearty support in their efforts to effect solutions.

In all, the report offers eleven suggestions and each and every one of them should be given serious and immediate consideration by the city officials. In fact, the public generally should take an active interest in the suggestions from the commission.

The suggestion that the commission, council and police department confer frequently is a good one. Betterment of conditions may be obtained by an exchange of ideas. Also, the suggestion that absolute courtesy be the rule and practice of all arresting officers is an excellent one and should be carried out to the letter. Some arresting officers seem to be of the opinion they are better than ordinary mortals and it would appear that a little temporary authority and a uniform cause them to, at times, act in an insulting manner. It must stop.

The boulevard stop system is an excellent idea. It is working out fine in Los Angeles, as well as other cities.

Also, The Glendale Evening News congratulates the commission on its suggestion that the motorcycle officers parade in the streets in plain view. As the commission points out, this complies with the state law, and, certainly, a conviction cannot be secured—legally, of course—if the arresting officer is himself violating the law.

In general, the report of the commission deserves the hearty endorsement of the public and the additional suggestions coming from that body will be awaited with interest. The commission has started well; there is every reason to believe it will keep up the good work to the end that Glendale's traffic problems be properly handled and solutions made to the satisfaction of the public in general.

KEEP GLENDALE CLEAN

Not the least of Glendale's claims to distinction is that of being a clean city, physically as well as morally. People who visit Glendale for the first time are impressed by the city's tidy appearance, and there are many who claim they located here permanently for that reason.

Now the thing for us to do is to guard jealously our good name in this respect. Summer is coming on—the time when vacant lots appear unsightly unless they are cleared of the weeds that have sprung up and the rubbish that has accumulated during the winter. Nothing gives a street a more neglected appearance than a vacant lot or two overgrown with grass and weeds, though the balance of the property on that street be neat and well cared for.

Non-resident lot owners are responsible for a good many of the unkempt lots, but if there is a vacant lot near you it will add sufficiently to the appearance of your own home to pay you to have it cleaned.

At least keep your own property cleared of weeds and rubbish and thus set the fashion for your neighbors. People are both observing and imitative and will nearly always follow an example of this kind. The cleaning of your lot may be the inspiration for a score of your neighbors to do likewise.

Later on in the summer your weed-grown lot will be a fire menace, too. Why wait to clean it until a fire sweeps over it and threatens near-by property, or until the city finds it necessary to clean it for you? The boys of the neighborhood who have an over-abundance of energy might enlist in this cause with benefit to themselves and to the community.

You have benefited, because Glendale is a clean city, by increasing population and rising real estate values. Reciprocate by helping to keep the city clean.

SIGNIFICANCE OF LUMBER INDUSTRY

Lumber and its affiliated forest and wood-working industries represent an investment of $15,000,000,000—the largest in the manufacturing industry field.

These industries employ over 1,000,000 men at far better than average wages. Taking in distribution, transportation, etc., they support 12,000,000 people. Only agriculture exceeds it in this respect.

Next to agriculture the forest is our greatest national resource.

More than 80 per cent in number of all American buildings are wholly or principally of lumber. It is the backbone of the construction industry.

Lumber is the chief single source of revenue of the railways. Its freight bill was $300,000,000 last year.

Lumber is the oldest and most characteristic American manufacturing industry, and "probably affects the life of the nation more intimately than any other industry except agriculture."

Lumber is largely produced at plants requiring heavy investments of capital and producing from 100,000 to 1,000,000 board feet a day.

The annual per capita consumption of lumber in the United States is about 350 feet—representing an outlay of over $15 per capita, or more than $1,700,000,000 annually for the whole population.

Practically every industry in America is dependent on lumber in an important degree.

While some substitutes are being found for wood, the progress of industrial arts continually creates new uses for it. The United States will never be able to use less lumber per capita than at present without a sacrifice of comfort, convenience and efficiency. The perpetuation of this great national resource and industry requires a national reforestation policy.

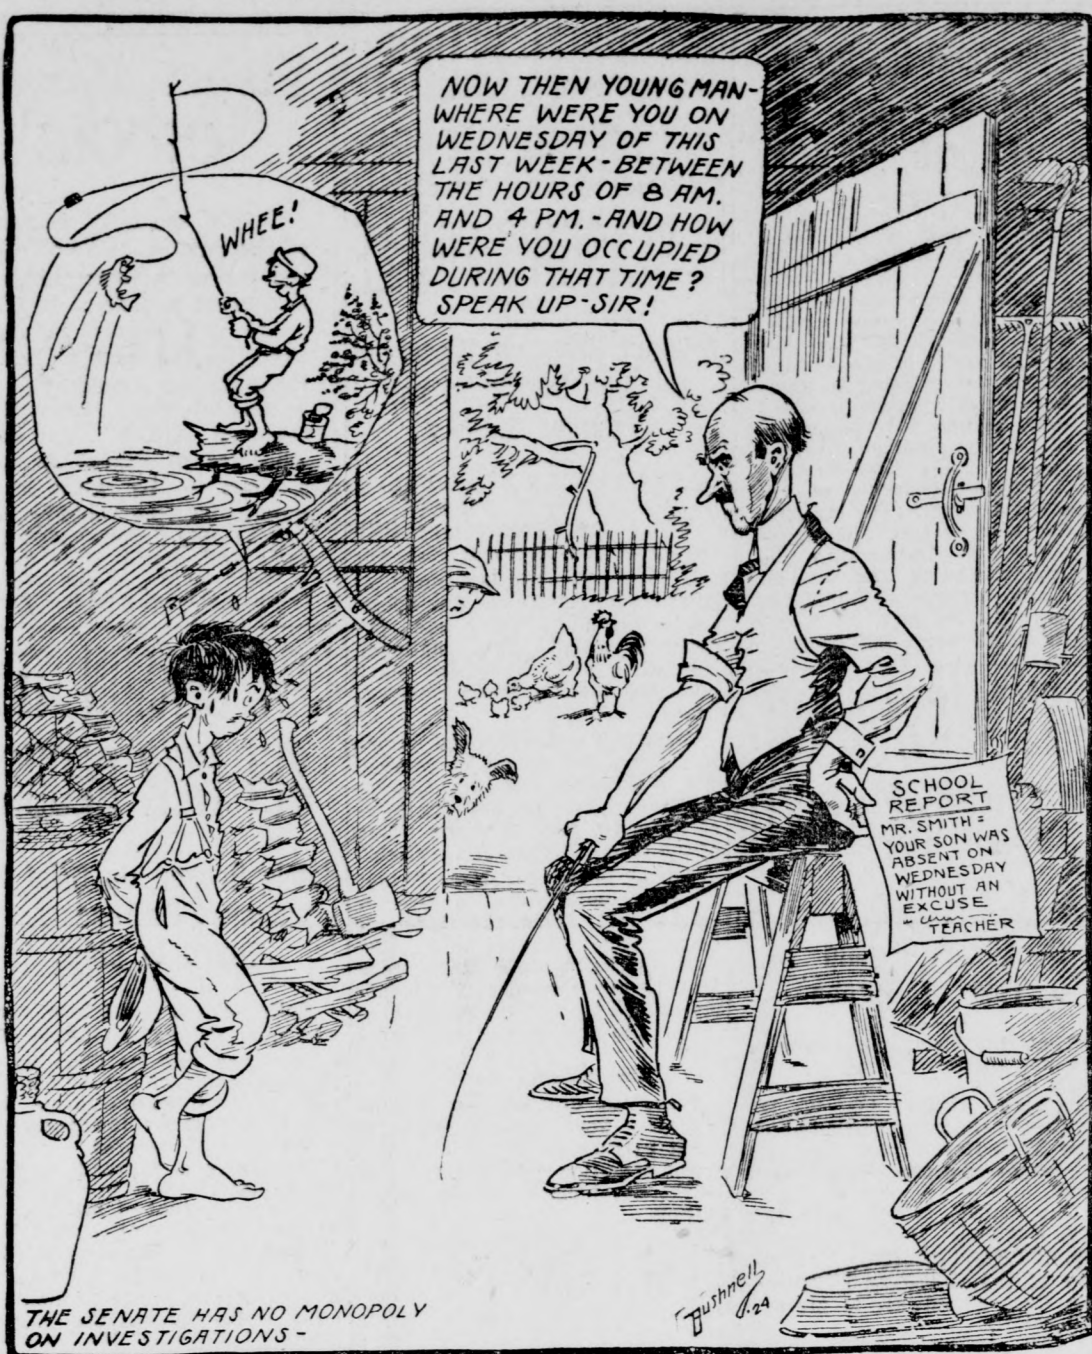

Cracking jokes at the expense of the saxophone has about as much effect as telling new ones on Henry's justly popular flivver. The thicker they spread the raspberry the more popular they become. The saxophone has now reached a point where it is not a joke. It's a menace—to other instruments.

Some writers read Shakespeare and become inspired. Others, honestly comparing their best efforts with what they read, toss their quill aside and seek a job in a grocery store.

There are many who believe that Congress is talking too much and is not listening enough—listening to good advice from President Coolidge.

Our idea of being well fixed is to own a block or two of real estate in Southern California—Glendale preferred—purchased at pre-war prices.

THE SENATE HAS NO MONOPOLY ON INVESTIGATIONS -

Gobel

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There died the other day in Brooklyn, N. Y., a man named Adolf Gobel.

He was the largest independent manufacturer of provisions in the east. Sixty years ago he was born in Germany. He came to this country at the age of 17, almost penniless. He went to work making sausages.

He followed the best and wisest rule that has ever yet been discovered for success; that is, he determined to do what he had to do better than anyone else could do it.

He worked here and became known as the king of the independent sausage and provision manufacturers in the east, and, at the time of his death, was reputed to be worth several million dollars.

This man's career is almost typically American. The typical American is the immigrant. The only "real Americans" are out on the Indian reservations.

Gobel came to this country because it was free from caste, because the doors of opportunity were open and because life in America was not throttled by ghosts of the past.

One would think that every encouragement should be given this kind of man. On the contrary, the country is full of half-baked Bolsheviks who hate this sort of man as the devil hates holy water.

He represents brains, will power, self control and industry. Against him are lined up the ignorant, the weak, the lazy and the envious.

There is quite an army of these. Some of them are teaching economics in colleges; some of them are spouting about the brotherhood of man, by which they mean that the waster should share the profits with the thrifty; some of them are in the national legislature passing income taxes and surtaxes, the object of which is to cripple and penalize the Gobels and tickle the Bolsheviks.

Senator Couzens, in his recent correspondence with Secretary Mellon, said that the high taxes have not hurt business because big business had been expanding and had found no difficulty in obtaining funds for doing so.

The trouble with this half truth, as Otto Kahn pointed out, is that the direct result of the high taxes is to impoverish and fortify those who are already in established positions in business, to diminish competition and to discourage newcomers. He says:

"The operations of the surtaxes has increased, and invariably tends to increase, the advantages which large and established concerns have over the adventurous newcomer and pioneer who heretofore was a characteristic and desirable figure in American business."

In other words, angered because thrift, brains and enterprise have succeeded, we seem to be determined that there shall be no more Adolf Gobels or Henry Fords.

SHOCKING NEWS

(From San Diego Union)

The state bureau of vital statistics has just issued a bit of information that must bring a shock to every sensitive resident of southern California. The announcement is one which appears utterly incredible to residents of this territory. It taxes all our faith in the infallibility of statistics and the reliability of statisticians. It is nothing less than the announcement that Illinois has more representatives in California than Iowa has!

Either we have been living under a misapprehension for several years past, or times have changed recently and radically.

The bureau says that there are 140,000 residents of California who were born in Illinois and that there aren't many Iowans. We'd almost swear to having seen 141,000 Iowans at the last Iowa picnic in Los Angeles. But probably we were wrong.

This revelation by the bureau of vital statistics will have a revolutionary effect upon daily life in California. Hitherto, one of the chief California sports—ranking with swimming, fishing and aquaplaning—has been the coming of quips and jests based on the supposed pre-eminence of Iowa population. It has been lots of fun, kindly meant and kindly received. It has whiled away many a tedious hour, and edified and enlightened the sandwiching hour at many a state society picnic. Now a great void appears.

Iowa jokes were easy, because we'd come to know that Iowa meant corn, hogs and farmers' limousines. But many Californians to whom Iowa is a household word don't know whether Illinois is a suburb of Chicago or the name of a railroad.

FACING TRIALS
(From Hollywood Citizen)

The man who is selected president of the United States for the next four years is very apt to have one of the most trying of presidential terms.

This possibility exists because the chances are not good that he will be supported by any clear-cut majority in Congress and will be more or less helpless as he seeks to accomplish some of his plans.

President Coolidge is having such experiences today.

Though he has a nominal Republican majority in Congress, it is not a solid majority that takes machine dictation as a whole.

Consequently, the President finds himself practically helpless in legislative matters and finds Congress riding against his wishes at all times.

Woodrow Wilson had the same situation to meet during the last two years of his term and the results of the trials of that situation are known to all.

Whoever is elected president this year is quite apt to be confronted with a similar situation during at least the first two years of his term.

With independent factors in Congress, the president is in a position to show leadership in legislative affairs only in the event that his attitude pleases the independent factors.

In the event that there is a defeat of purpose and the consciousness that his position is more or less one of helplessness, a consciousness that cannot contribute to great usefulness.

Such possibilities, however, will not influence any one against accepting the nomination if he gets a chance.

BELIEVES IN PARTIES
(From Pasadena Star-News)

President Coolidge is a strong believer in party organization. This is essential, he holds, to effective and efficient government.

The sentiments of Mr. Coolidge on party organization and party fealty are timely and of general interest. He said, in addressing a group of women students of politics:

"The only difference between a mob and a trained army is organization, and the only difference between a disorganized country and one that has the advantage of a wise and sound government is fundamentally a question of organization. I don't mean by that a narrow and bigoted partisanship, but one that recognizes the necessity to co-operate one with another if we are in any way to secure the result we desire. Men of the type of Lincoln and Grant, no less than the type of Cleveland and Wilson, have been loyal to their party and desired to have party support and party government for the purpose of giving an efficient administration."

This is a sound, sensible interpretation of partisanship in whole-some form. It is open-minded, broad-visioned party fealty, based upon intelligence and conviction.

No other kind of partisanship is worth while.

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

THE HOME BUILDERS

There's a heap of satisfaction
In each thought and word and action,
If you've got a really, truly
Little home that's all your own;

There's a feeling that comes a-rolling,
As you start some dirt a-wheelin',
That the posies you are growin'
Are the best ones ever shown.

There's a mocker just a-waitin'
For a chance to go a-matin'
In the tree that you can furnish
If you'll only go about it;

There's a pair of linnets near you
That will sing and greatly cheer you,
And the girl (if you go courtin')
Will say "yes" and fairly shout it.

There's a way to plan and do it
And you'll never, never rue it
If you'll build a little cottage
Where the fragrant blossoms grow;

For the grate will be a-burnin'
And you'll always be a-yearnin'
For the welcome that's a-waitin'
And the oaken logs aglow.

There's a certain fond devotion
I have somehow got a notion,
That you cannot get in houses
Which the other fellows plan;

There's a little something 'jackin'
And your pep just starts a-crackin'
If you have to hoard your dollars
For the old collector man.

The People

—of—Anytown

Character Sketches

Do you remember young Byron Pierce of Anytown? We all thought Byron would get to be president of the United States, but somehow he disappointed us. Byron must be fifty now and he hasn't turned out to be any more clever nor has he become more distinguished than many of the Anytown boys who were thought to be inferior to him in mental capacity and ability.

Tall and slender, with pale face and clear-cut features, wavy black hair and large black eyes there was something appealing about Byron. He was very precocious and seemed set apart from other boys. His parents, like many before and since, took it for granted that precocity at maturity was a sign of promise and they set about to map out their boy's life.

Byron's father, John Pierce, was Anytown's lawyer. Pierce tutored his son at home as well as sending him to public school, so he was able to graduate from high school at 16. He took all the honors for that year's class, and I think we were justified in expecting great things from him. He was so far ahead of other boys of his age in achievement and in opportunities.

When he left to go to college, Anytown gave Byron a great "send-off," and when Mayor Caswell himself in a fine speech predicted that Anytown would one day be proud to have nurtured young Pierce we felt that time was the only thing needful to place Byron in the presidential chair.

Pierce wanted his son to be a lawyer, so he sent him to Earlton college, his own alma mater. Earlton was a small college, but Byron did not make any spectacular records there. In fact, it took him five years to finish the four-year course, and after three years at the state university he came back to enter his father's office. And then Byron decided he did not want to be a lawyer, but he had been born with a weak will and had never exercised it, so he did just as his father wished and began the practice of law in Anytown against his inclinations.

So today John Pierce sits in his father's little, dusty, cluttered-up law office in Anytown, his one claim to distinction being that he is Anytown's only lawyer.

John Pierce and his wife made a mistake when they encouraged the adventurous newcomer and pioneer who heretofore was a characteristic and desirable figure in American business."

In other words, angered because thrift, brains and enterprise have succeeded, we seem to be determined that there shall be no more Adolf Gobels or Henry Fords.

THE STORY.

DR. RALPH LESLIE, just graduated from medical college, ships on the yacht Ella as deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate from an attack of typhoid fever. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid, the cook and Williams, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' state-rooms, in the pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are found murdered with an axe. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The axe is found where it was flung into the stewardess's berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the axe toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the axe in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie sees Elsa pick up the pantry key in Turner's room. She tries to throw it into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night Adams, in the crew's-nest, says he has seen a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurries down a marlin-spike, which disappears, but it is found next day fastened over the side of the ship. Then one night Burns is knocked unconscious, the key is taken from his neck, the captain's cabin is opened and the axe disappears, with its sure evidence of fingerprints. The Ella docks at Philadelphia. Singleton is put on trial for the murders.

XXIII—CROSS-EXAMINATION

Mr. Singleton's attorney, a young and intelligent Jew, cross-examined Mrs. Sloane.

Attorney for the defense: "Did you ever write a letter to the defendant, Mrs. Sloane, threatening him if he did not marry you?"

"I do not recall such a letter."

"Is this letter in your writing?"

"I think so. Yes."

"Mrs. Sloane, you testify that you opened your door and saw Mr. Vail and the captain taking Mr. Turner to his room. Is this correct?"

"Yes."

"Why did they take him? I mean, was he not able, apparently, to walk alone?"

"He was able to walk. They walked beside him."

In your testimony, taken at the time and entered in the ship's log, you say you "opened by the courtesy" of the man who was in charge of the vessel, and therefore competent to make such record, and signed by the witness as having been read and approved by her:

"Mr. Singleton said that he hoped the captain would come, as he and Mr. Turner only wanted a chance to get at him. . . . There was a sound outside, and Karen thought it was Mr. Turner falling over something, and said that she hoped she would not meet him. Once or twice, when he had been drinking, he had made overtures to her and she detested him. . . . She opened the door and came back into the room, touching me on the arm. 'That beast is out there,' she said, 'sitting on the companion steps. If he tries to stop me, I'll call you.'"

"You say that Mr. Singleton said he wished to 'get at' the captain. Are those his exact words?"

"I do not recall his exact words."

"Perhaps I can refresh your mind. With the permission of the court, I shall read from the ship's log this statement, read, dictated by the man who was in charge of the vessel, and therefore competent to make such record, and signed by the witness as having been read and approved by her:

"Mr. Singleton said that he hoped the captain would come, as he and Mr. Turner only wanted a chance to get at him. . . . There was a sound outside, and Karen thought it was Mr. Turner falling over something, and said that she hoped she would not meet him. Once or twice, when he had been drinking, he had made overtures to her and she detested him. . . . She opened the door and came back into the room, touching me on the arm. 'That beast is out there,' she said, 'sitting on the companion steps. If he tries to stop me, I'll call you.'"

"Before the murders?"

"No, sir; not till after. I guess I saw it first."

"What did the men say about it?"

"They thought it scared Mr. Schwartz overboard. The Ella's been unlucky as to crews. They call her a 'devil ship'."

"Did you see Mr. Singleton on deck between 2 and 3 o'clock?"

"No, sir."

The cross-examination was very short:

"What sort of night was it?"

"Very dark."

"Would the first mate, or officer on watch, be supposed to see that the emergency case you speak of was in order?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did the officer on watch remain on the forecastle-head?"

"Mr. Schwartz did not; Mr. Singleton did, mostly, except when he went back to strike the bells."

"Could Mr. Singleton have been on deck without you seeing him?"

"Yes, if he did not move around or smoke. I could see his pipe lighted."

"Did you see his pipe that night?"

"No, sir."

"If you were sick, would you be likely to smoke?"

This question, I believe, was ruled out.

"In case the wheel of the vessel were lashed for a short time, what would happen?"

"Depends on the weather. She'd be likely to come to or fall off considerably."

"Would the lookout know it?"

"Yes, sir."

"How?"

"The sails would show it, sir."

That closed the proceedings for the day. The crowd seemed reluctant to disperse. Turner's lawyers were in troubled consultation with him. Singleton was markedly more cheerful, and I thought the prosecution looked perturbed and uneasy. I went back to jail that night and dreamed of Elsa—not as I had seen her that day, heading forward, watching every point of the evidence, but as I had seen her so often on the yacht, facing into the salt breeze as if she loved it, her hands in the pockets of her short white jacket, her hair blowing back from her forehead in damp, close-curling rings.

What testimony comes out about the white mystery? Tomorrow—"A Bad Woman."

CHANGE EYE GLASS

LONDON, May 16.—Many women who lunch at the Savoy have discarded tortoise shell rimmed glasses for those of the new sort. The latter have platinum rims and are hung on a narrow black ribbon.

UNUSUAL DESIGNS

PARIS, May 16.—Baskets of flowers so beautifully embroidered as almost to seem real, are a new form of decoration. One such basket, very large and filled with splashy orange and blue blossoms, is embroidered on the hip of a mauve dance frock shown here today.

PLAN EDUCATION ON CHIROPRACTIC

Members of Association Will Advance Interests In Political Arena

Editor The Evening News:—Chiropractors will enter politics! At the monthly meeting of the San Fernando Chiropractors' association, Dr. B. J. Wood, president of the legislative bureau of the California State Society of Chiropractors, gave a brief outline of the urgent need for chiropractors to enter the field of politics, in every town, city and hamlet; and he also outlined the forming of district branches of the legislative bureau, to work in close relationship with the state society, to protect our law, through representation, from unscrupulous attacks or messages from our opponents.

Educational Drive
There will be a concerted drive in the near future to educate the public of the state as to the superiority of chiropractic, in so-called acute contagious or infectious diseases, as a preventative and eliminative, without having to undergo a long siege and bad after-effects.

This year promises a greater unity for the rights of the chiropractors, as accorded by law, in their efforts for the sick, not only in their offices, but in the homes and public hospitals, according to the constitutional and divine rights of the patients.

High School Alumni To Hold Home Coming Day

Students and faculty of the Glendale Union High school are combining their efforts in an attempt to make Friday, May 23 the biggest day in the history of the institution. On that date the doors of the new school on East Broadway will be thrown open to the alumni, and hundreds of former students are expected to return to inspect the new buildings and renew acquaintances on Home Coming Day.

An elaborate program has been arranged by Emma Laura Cooper, chairman of the entertainment committee, to occupy the afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Features of the afternoon will be a children's party for children of graduates, and an informal get-together of the alumni in room 215.

Many graduates have not yet seen the new High school plant, and it is planned to throw every department open to inspection on next Friday.

SUSPECT IS HELD

MOCKERS SCORED AT CHURCH MEET

Enemies of Christianity Are Described by Preacher
In Baptist Revival

Another interesting lecture was given last night at the Baptist church by Miss Amy Lee Stockton, woman evangelist. She told her audience that everyone will classify either as a mocker, a procrastinator or a believer in Christianity and the Bible. Those who mock often do so because of their ignorance of the Bible, or because they are living an evil life, or because they are trying to cover up a real desire to become a Christian.

In connection with the meetings the sixty children, divided into groups, "Hustlers" and "Rustlers," who gave a song program last week, were entertained this afternoon by Misses Stockton and Gould.

They listened to stories, told riddles and enjoyed hot weather refreshments.

CREATION TOPIC OF SPRING POEM

Sunset Club Member Sounds
Note of Reverence in Stirring Verses

Early in April, just at the beginning of springtime, Joseph N. Olmstead of 364 West Lexington drive, 88 year old member of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, wrote a poem on "Creation," and today it is here-with printed:

CREATION
"O Lord of our being,
Who art enthroned above,
Thy robe is like the lightning,
Thy soul, the emblem of love.
The earth, made by Thy command,
With ocean broad and wide
Flowing under the dry land—
Where daily ebbs and tides
By day—the sun its light,
And the fair moon, at night,
A land of fruits and flowers,
With bird songs to cheer the hours.

According to Thy plan
Thy finished work was man;
Adam, his name at birth,
Which means: made of red earth.
From near his heart, we believe,
Was taken our mother Eve,
And after this, she gave birth
To more men, who tilled the earth.

They having dominion over all
That dwell on this terrestrial ball;
Revealing the infinite love
To us of our Father above.

Commandments: One to Ten
Were given to all men,
To guide them in the narrow way
That leads unto eternal day.
And we would daily pray
That we might not be led astray
From the mansions of the blest,
Where Jesus gives the weary rest."

SMALLMAN SINGS IN CLUB'S FINALE

Madrigal Artists Heard In Brilliant Program as Season Is Ended

ley they also sang "Song at Sunrise" (Nanney). That the club made a wise selection of John Smallman as solo artist, was seen in the reception Mr. Smallman's Glendale friends accorded him when he appeared on the stage for his first song group.

Accompanied by Lorna Gregg, he sang "A May Day Carol" (English folk song, arranged by Deems Taylor), "Au Pays" (Holmes) and "The Seminarian" (Moussorgsky). Each was a splendid medium for the display of his talent, but in his encore "Pregunte a Las Estrellas" ("Go Ask of the Bright Stars Gleaming"), a Mexican folk song, his wonderful tone qualities were most evident.

In the second part of the program the club members were two Indian songs, "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Laurie) and "Indian Cradle Song" (Mathews) and "After" (Clough Deigher). With Mrs. E. Hensel the club sang "Strauss Waltz Song" (arranged by Victor Harris) and with Mr. Smallman "Italian Serenade" (Stevenson).

Smallman's Numbers
Mr. Smallman's song group included "Tes Yeux" (Rabey), "Lethé" (Boot) and "Love's Trilogy" (Mrs. Hennion Robinson). As an encore he sang "The Nightingale" from "Kentucky Lonesome Tunes" (Brockway).

Other enjoyable vocal solos were given by Mrs. Helen E. MacMullin, contralto, and a member of the club. She sang "At Sunset" (Sol Yaar Hed) (Carl Busch) and "Inter Nos" (Macfayden). As an encore she sang "The Violin."

Mrs. Gertrude Erb served most capably as the club accompanist. Preceding the program Mrs. Hoffman, as club president, gave a word of greeting. She announced that the annual club luncheon is to take place Monday, June 2, at the Oakmont Country club. It will include active, patron and associate members. Reservations must be made before Friday, May 30, with Mrs. J. Ray Bentley, or Mrs. Hoffman.

Following the program an informal reception was held in the foyer and palm room, where punch and cakes were served.

POETESS POINTS AMBITION'S ROAD

Mrs. Ollie San Marco Tells Desire to Rank with Harvey Westgate

Inspired by the poems by Harvey Westgate, appearing in The Glendale Evening News, Mrs. Ollie San Marco, of 541 North Kenwood street, has written a poem on "The Road to Ambition."

She prefaces her poem with a short note, saying, "Am not claiming to be in the class with Harvey Westgate, but have the ambition to want to be." Her poem follows:

THE ROAD TO AMBITION
"Life's road may seem rough, but why have a fear
Pick the one to ambition, where hope helps to cheer,
You with your higher conception of right
Will never meet with impossible flight,
On this road to ambition you'll meet, despondency, as dark as night,
But justice stands by pointing to a tower of light.

Too soon you'll meet failure, but this guy you must ignore;
Patience will help you if him you implore.
Truth is prevailing, in more ways than one
So don't forget to take truth along.

Don't stop to visualize the many prongs you have to meet
In this way you lose ambition, buckle up and hit the beat.
Impatience will greet you once in a while
But hope stands a distance with beckoning smile.

Be sure you think straight and know what you think,
When you've reached your ambition you've no desire to shrink.
Your legacy of love and your legacy of soul,
Will be written upon ambition's honor roll."

Slater, J. H. Southard, C. M. Taylor, C. L. Tuttle, C. L. Viereck, Roberta T. Young, E. W. Young and Misses Jean Gaddis and Vera Schlotzhauer. Mrs. Gertrude Erb is accompanist.

Officers are Mrs. Paul A. Hoffman, president; Mrs. Helen MacMillan, vice-president; Mrs. H. V. Henry, secretary; Mrs. A. R. Chappell, treasurer; Mrs. C. L. Viereck, librarian; Mrs. H. L. Bullinger, Mrs. L. E. Richardson, directors. Mesdames L. K. Markey, R. L. Young and E. B. Moore are members of the voice committee.

IRISH NAVY GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

Small Ships, Unarmed, Fail to Impress Frenchman in Making Arrest

DUBLIN, May 16.—The "Irish navy" has been disbanded and the ships laid away in a coating of white lead at Kingstown. The "navy" consisted of a number of small craft for the protection of Irish fisheries against foreign trawlers within the three-mile limit. The vessels were equipped with small guns, but most of them had neither shells nor gunners, and their armament was chiefly rifles. They were not equipped with wireless, and had a great disadvantage, for the poaching vessels had wireless and were able to warn other poachers. The operations of the "navy" have been more or less a mystery, but it is reported that one Irish vessel did attempt to arrest a French trawler; but when the attempt was made the Free State tricolor was flying, and, inasmuch as this flag has not been internationally recognized, the French captain refused to recognize the authority of the Irish commander and accused him of piracy. An ultra-patriotic crew had mislaid the British ensign. Marbles of stone are made in mills in Saxony for shipment to the United States, India and China, a mill producing an average of 3,500 of the boys' delights nor gunners, and their armament was chiefly rifles.

C. O. D. E. S. FEAST SET FOR TONIGHT

Annual Event to Be Held at Broadway High School;
Plenty of Fun

The annual "C. O. D. E. S." banquet at the Broadway High school cafeteria, starting at 6:30 o'clock tonight promises to eclipse anything of the kind put on by G. U. H. S. students, and Dante La Franchi, vice-president of the student body, who will preside in the absence of President Howard Elliott, confined to his home by illness, declares that nearly 100 will gather around the festive board to celebrate the year's non-athletic achievements.

C. O. D. E. S., as the uninitiated may not know, stands for the Council Officers, Debating, Editorial and Stylus members, who, with certain of the faculty, will gather with the Explosion staff and other representatives of student body activities, around a banquet table replete with song and cheer, as well as eatables that make a direct personal appeal to the healthy appetites of growing young men.

Among the speakers will be Ronald West, last semester's student body president; Margaret Longley, editor of Stylus; Maryjo Phillips, editor of the Explosion; Paul Cunningham, secretary of debating, and Leslie La Valle, president of the boys' league.

TEN CANDIDATES GIVEN DEGREES

Hollywood Drill Team Puts On Work for Local DeMolay Chapter

At the weekly meeting of the Glendale chapter, Order of DeMolay, held last night at the Masonic Temple, ten candidates were given the DeMolay and initiatory degrees by the Hollywood team. Hollywood is reputed to have the best initiation team of any chapter in Southern California.

The degrees were conferred in the lodge room and after the ceremonies, refreshments were served. A large attendance was present from the local chapter to see the work of the Hollywood team.

To Make Trip
At the business meeting held after the initiation, the trip to Fillmore by the local chapter on May 31 was discussed. On that date the Glendale team will put on both degrees for the Fillmore chapter. A large percentage of the members signified their intention of attending.

Other DeMolay functions to be held in the near future are a dinner on May 22 and a dance on May 23. The dinner will be held in the Masonic Temple and special music will be provided by the Glee club and orchestra. The Oakmont Country club will be the scene of the dance, which will be a social affair.

Porter Is Re-elected Canadian Club Head

Election of officers was the chief item of business at the meeting of the Glendale Candian Club held last night at the K. P. Hall, corner of Park and Brand. George P. Porter of 228-D South Glendale avenue, was re-elected president; Frank Mathews, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. William Western, vice-president.

About thirty members were present at last night's meeting. The president emphasized the importance of attending the unveiling of the memorial tablet for British and Canadian soldiers at the Inglewood cemetery, to take place soon. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served after the business meeting.

COMMITTEE WILL DISCUSS BUDGET FOR ADVERTISING

Proposed Outlay of Funds
Will Form Topic at
C. of C. Meeting

The advertising committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight to discuss a possible revision in the proposed budget for the expenditure of the advertising fund that was collected in the recent drive.

The point has been raised in several quarters that the amount which it was planned to devote to national advertising is insufficient for a campaign that would be productive of the results desired, and the members of the committee will take up this feature at tonight's meeting and call for expressions of opinion before reaching any definite decision as to a possible change in the program that has already been tentatively outlined.

Approve Some Items
At a meeting of the board of control the expenditure of $1000 with the Arrowhead magazine for June, the $100 with California Real Estate, and $750 to the Glendale Realty Board were approved by the board. The last item is a part of the amount authorized by the City Council, it is stated by E. W. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to meet the cost of the recent sewer bond campaign, and this amount was taken from the $500 subscribed by the City Council to the advertising fund.

In L. A. Papers
The items that call for the spending of $5000 with each the Los Angeles Times and Examiner were approved, as was the $3000 for art work, the $150 for pictures, the $1238 for an advertising man and the $2000 for a publicity man.

Items that were held in abeyance are the proposed $3500 to be spent with the Saturday Evening Post, the $1000 for campaign expenses, and the $1950 that was listed to pay for 100,000 folders. In the case of the last item, it was decided to ask for bids from other sources than that which has already quoted prices, in order to see whether a lower price could not be secured.

The sum of $350 will be spent with each of the Glendale newspapers during the course of the campaign, the tentative budget proposes.

It was decided to appoint a committee of five members, who will work with the directors of the organization in drawing up all contracts governing the expenditure of the money.

GLENDALE TEAMS LOSE IN DEBATE

L. A. Manual Arts Orators Declared Winners in Peace Argument

Broadway High school students lost both sides of a double-header practice debate held yesterday afternoon on the Bok peace plan, the winners of both the affirmative and negative sides of the question being teams from the Los Angeles Manual Arts High school.

Glendale lost the affirmative side of the question in Room 107 of the Broadway High school, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the same time the other Glendale team was losing the negative side in Los Angeles.

Those on the local affirmative team were Velma Bolton and Marie Griggs, and on the negative team Radcliffe Claussen and Elsie Forsythe. The student judges at the Glendale end of the double-header were Paul Cunningham, Miss A. Rensson and Bonnie Jean Lockwood.

Will Discuss Plans To Enlarge Library

Invitations are being sent through the mail at the present time to attend a meeting at the Glendale Public Library, May 19, at 7:30 p. m. at which plans are to be discussed for the enlargement of the Harvard Street Library. The Library Board will at that time offer discussion of the plan of relieving the crowded conditions that now exist.

HARBOR MEETING

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Meeting of the Los Angeles Harbor association has been called for tonight at 7:22 Moneta avenue, when the body is expected to endorse the work for new highways to the ocean, now badly needed. The two main arteries to the harbor are congested at the present time, it is pointed out.

SUGAR BEET CROP

DETROIT, May 16.—The Michigan sugar beet crop netted farmers $8,240,000 last year, or $9.33 a ton, delivered to the sixteen factories in this district. The acreage was 109,000 and the yield about eight tons to the acre.

BODY UNIDENTIFIED

WILMINGTON, May 16.—The body of an unidentified laborer of the Hammond Lumber company lies in the Woodbury her today. He was killed in an accident on Terminal Island.

EXPLAINS FIRE HAZARDS FOUND IN HOMES, CITY

Adequate Equipment Is Most Important, State Fire
Marshal Declares

Fire hazards of the average city were explained by work and illustrated by picture at last night's meeting at the Harvard High school auditorium, held under the auspices of the Community Service and the Parent-Teacher association.

Jay W. Stevens, state fire marshal, and member of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was the principal speaker of the evening, and held the attention of a good sized audience throughout the lecture. He has an intimate knowledge of his subject, both from the practical and theoretical standpoint, and was able to give those present an expert's view of fire prevention and fire protection.

Need of Equipment
He stressed particularly the need of adequate equipment in all cities. He cited the recent Berkeley disaster. This city did not have sufficient equipment to fight the recent fire, as they had counted on Oakland and other neighboring cities in case of necessity.

At the time of the Berkeley fire a second alarm blaze was raging in Oakland, so the sister city was able to give them but little assistance, he said. He stated that smaller cities in the neighborhood of Glendale should not depend upon this municipality for aid in time of trouble.

Pictures Shown
Assistant Chief Rhodes of the Los Angeles fire department showed three reels of motion pictures on fire hazards in the home. This was very instructive.

Fire Chief A. H. Lankford presided. The firemen's quartet, composed of J. Rockwell, G. Blix, W. Wagon and H. Goode, rendered several selections. W. H. Haines gave a saxophone solo and music was furnished by Eddie Moniot's orchestra.

CLASS TO STAGE 'STUNT' PROGRAM

Many Novel Features to Be Presented by Members
Of Church Group

A "Stunt Fest" is announced by Mrs. R. N. Stryker, president of the Friendship Class of the First Congregational church, for Friday night, May 23.

Some of Glendale's finest talent is to be seen in the entertainment, says Mrs. Stryker.

A quartet composed of Gladys Wore, Marjorie Yack, Charles Combs and Myron Carman will sing "Carmena" (Lane Wilson) and "Ce Cappali Moon" (Harry Rowe Shelly). Mrs. Harry Wilcox is to give a reading and J. Arthur Myers, well known tenor, will sing.

A piano number by Florence Carman Richardson will be "Valse Brillante" (Moskowsky).

Club Singing
Mrs. J. Edwin Murphy is to give as readings, "Behind the Curtain" and "Mighty Lak a Rose." These will be followed by a demonstration of fancy club swinging by Helen Ohman and a violin solo by Frances Payne.

Pantomime songs, "Annie Laurie," "Comin' Through the Rye," will be given by Gladys White and Mrs. Kenneth Payne.

Finally a playlet, "Our Aunt from California," will be presented by Mesdames George Sievers, C. R. Nicholson, M. E. Canfield, R. N. Haight, R. Hiner and F. Nichols.

Don't Miss Seeing Glendale's New Model Home—Open for Public Inspection Saturday and Sunday

505 Wing Street

One Block East of Adams—Between Colorado and Maple

Many Features Incorporated in Model Home

All who plan to build a home—and who does not?—are invited by D. C. Kramer of 1013 South Brand boulevard to see the beautiful Spanish type six-room residence he has just completed at a cost of $10,000 for W. L. Clark at 505 Wing street, and which will be open for public inspection all day Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18.

The Clark home is of buff-colored stucco, particularly adaptable to the landscape, into which it melts most artistically. Inside, the general impression of beauty is carried out in Southern gum and cove ceilings, and though containing only six rooms, it is so proportioned as to create the impression of at least an eight-room home.

Mr. Kramer is particularly proud of this dwelling, which he declares has had the very finest of materials and workmanship throughout, with a view to making it not only beautiful but homelike, which means convenient, efficient and durable.

That he has succeeded is attested by the fact that Mr. Clark is delighted and has told him Hollywood people are coming to realize Glendale contractors can put up houses with a personal appeal just as striking as any being built in Hollywood, Pasadena or elsewhere, and with materials as sturdy and at prices as attractive as any contractors in Southern California.

A trip through the new W. L. Clark home at 505 Wing street bears out this statement. Floors are all of 13/16 inch quartered oak, with the exception of the bathroom, where the floor and walls are of "Plastone." A special feature is a three-burner heater, which occupies a one-half basement. This heater is subject to delicate regulation and is one of the most advanced types on the market, according to Mr. Kramer.

The living room and dining room are combined, with a ten-foot arch between. The breakfast room is large and has a blue and pink cove ceiling. The Southern gum art work in this house has been pronounced by Hollywood contractors to be the finest they have ever seen, Mr. Kramer states.

The two bedrooms and den with a swinging bed offer unusually large sleeping accommodations, while there is in addition a screen porch as big as a room. The kitchen is very modern and conveniently arranged, with many built-in features. Every window in the house is copper screened.

The double garage, 20 by 22 feet, affords ample room for two cars and has a novel arrangement, the doors rolling around the sides, permitting the entire front to be unobstructed.

The Clark home occupies a lot 50 by 150 feet," says Mr. Kramer. "The external architectural lines give the effect of compactness. The house, accordingly, does not sprawl all over the grounds, but is ideally balanced, allowing the full benefits of that great American institution—a yard.

"Every one who has seen this house has marveled that it could be built for $10,000, the impression being that of a much more expensive home. It is the art of suggestion, both inside and out, that gains this effect, which must be seen to be appreciated.

THURSDAY CLUB'S MEMBERS ELECT MRS. M. NEWTON

New President Is Active In School and Civic Work;
Officers Chosen

Mrs. M. C. Newton of 1216 South Boynton street was elected president of the Thursday Afternoon club at the annual meeting held yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Newton has been a member of the board of the Glendale Avenue Parent-Teacher association for the past two years and an active member of that organization, and is well known in South Glendale.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. C. H. Whitney, re-elected, first vice-president; Mrs. Carrie Campbell, second vice-president; Mrs. L. C. Denman, recording secretary; Mrs. Hazel Valet, recording secretary; Mrs. S. E. Brown, re-elected, treasurer.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon presided at the business meeting. A motion to the effect that the annual dues be raised to $5 was carried by a large majority.

Delegate Chosen
Mrs. Bacon was appointed as delegate to represent the club at the coming national biennial, to be held in Los Angeles. Mrs. E. J. Morgan gave a report on the work of the auxiliary of the Children's hospital.

Brief talks relative to plans for building the prospective club house were made by Messrs. Treadwell of Glendale, Dolge and Roth of Hollywood; Mr. Treadwell outlining plans for financing, Mr. Roth displaying sketches of a building, and Mr. Dolge suggesting plans for consideration by the club.

A beautiful soprano solo, "God Is Love," was sung by Mrs. E. Carlson, who also gave an interesting preliminary talk. She responded to an encore with a second number.

Plan Annual Picnic
Announcement was made that the annual club picnic will be held the third Thursday in June at La Crescenta, at the home of Mrs. L. C. Denman.

A social hour followed, and light refreshments were served. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames McNaughton Barnes, F. P. Webber, James Cunningham, M. C. Mabry, John W. Sharpe.

Christian Scientist
Opposes Peace Plan

Editor The Glendale Evening News—There has been much said in the daily papers concerning a certain "Peace Plan" by the Christian Science Monitor.

Now as a Christian Scientist I cannot agree with the Monitor's views, so I am sending you an article to be published.

Yours sincerely,
OLIN OFFIELD, C. S. M.
815 South Glendale avenue.

The article referred to is as follows:

Israel Crieth for a King
In the late issues of the daily papers there has been much published given to a so-called peace plan suggested by the Christian Science Monitor.

The whole plan seems to hinge on the word "compulsion." They hope to have written into the constitution of the United States the word "compulsion," making it possible for the state to not only take men's lives, but their substance and do with it as the state may see fit.

Now Webster defines the word "compulsion" as compulsion. This plan of compulsion could only be executed by a king, or one with the power of a dictator, and with the support of a fine military machine. The very attempt to set up a military power in this country to rule men by arbitrary will would cause war instead of peace.

There can be but one constitution and that the constitution of those things that are for the progress and the enlightenment of the people.

In this plan history repeats itself. Because the human mind is ever the same, destructive never constructive, always ignorant and cowardly, fighting only for its own perpetuation, for what it feels and sees.

The Christian Scientists who are offering this so-called plan are like the Israelites of old when Moses had freed them from the slavery and bondage of Pharaoh; they turned back and cried for a king, one that their eyes could see and their hands could feel.

I want to ask: did not the Egyptians have a constitution of both men and money; did not the Romans, the Athenians, the Carthaginians and the Germans of the present days—did not they consent everything? But I ask, where are they today; where will the nation be that asks for constitution today? What of the morrow? Our country is based on the principle of liberty. No plan can be put forward that will hinder or obstruct that liberty, because it is your liberty and my liberty; it is universal.

Christian Scientists, with the people, may wish to turn back and have a king, but there shall none be given them. For they are to learn that there is just "one God in Israel," and that God is infinite, therefore universal.

OLIN OFFIELD,
Christian Science Metaphysician.

SHOE SALES GAIN

LARGE MANILA HATS

PARIS, May 16.—There are many large hats seen now in Manila. These are usually shrouded in clouds of tulle, held in place by heavy big flowers.

Humorist

RALPH BINGHAM, famous wit and impersonator, appears on the Chautauqua tonight in his lecture, "Possum Hunt."

Cora Wilson Stewart, the Kentucky school teacher, who is known as the "Mother" of moonlight schools, told of her great tribute to humanity last night at the Glendale Chautauqua. Glendale people were fortunate in hearing Mrs. Stewart, who is one of the honored speakers at the coming Biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Stewart was the originator of a great educational crusade in the south. Her story is a most interesting one for it tells of the famous moonlight schools, in which 30,000 adults have learned to read and write since 1912. This movement is now nation-wide and Mrs. Stewart states "The United States is determined to wipe out all illiteracy by 1930."

Gamble Company
This afternoon the Ernest Gamble concert party entertained the Chautauqua attendants and will appear again tonight.

Mr. Gamble, bass; Miss Verna Leone Page, violinist, and Miss Martha Reed, soprano, give "Snapshots of Their Journeys in Other Lands," where their artistic musical work has received many compliments.

"Joy Night" will be tonight, when Ralph Bingham, talented mirth provoker, will give his "Possum Hunt" and other stories. Many folks know Mr. Bingham for his records and now they can become acquainted with him in person. It is said that his 7,000 engagements include more return dates, in more towns, than any other humorist in the country. His Bingham smiles are nation famous.

Indian's Lecture

Nipo Strongheart, Yakima Indian, will tell the story tomorrow afternoon "From Peace Pipe to War Trail." Appearing in the full regalia of a chief, the ceremonies, customs and legends of the Indians are delivered by this remarkable actor-lecturer in impressively realistic manner.

A real treat is in store for Saturday night, when the Elias Day Players will give "The Great Commoner," Kettering's master comedy drama of the life of Lincoln.

GLENDALE DOCTOR HIGHLY HONORED

Margaret M. York Head of Organization Formed
By Physicians

Glendale received state-wide honor Wednesday at the meeting of the California Medical association in Los Angeles, when Dr. Margaret M. York of 705 North Central avenue, was chosen president of the organization formed by women physicians of California.

Other officers chosen were Dr. Jessica Raiche of Anaheim, vice-president; Dr. Lear of Berkeley, vice-president; Dr. Helen Lee of San Jose, secretary; Dr. Julia Riddle of Los Angeles, treasurer.

There were fifty-one women at the organization meeting and there will undoubtedly be that many charter members of the new association.

Will Expand
United for professional fellowship and the advancement of professional interests, the women's organization is destined to develop into an active group as that existing among the medical men of the state.

Dr. York's participation in the organization and her election to the presidency, will be received with special pride by the Tuesday Afternoon club and the Glendale College Women's club, of which she is a member. She is a member of the public health committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

She is a graduate of George Washington university in Washington, D. C., and a medical college in the United States.

Angeleno Claims His
Sedan Stolen Here

M. W. Young, 3317 Large avenue, Los Angeles, reported to the police yesterday that his Ford sedan had been stolen from in front of the Comalt company plant on Los Feliz road between 9 o'clock in the morning and the same hour at night. It carried license No. 53050, and had the Comalt company sign on the doors.

GLASS MARKET FIRM

PITTSBURGH, May 16.—The plate glass market continues firm. While the demand for the automobile industry has slowed down slightly, the furniture and building trades are absorbing increasing quantities of plate glass.

MINSTRELS WILL FROLIC IN SHOW AT HIGH SCHOOL

Final Rehearsal Shows All
Blackface Crew Ready For Curtain's Rise

The "dark" secret was revealed last night at the Broadway High school auditorium, where the final dress rehearsal of the "Darktown Minstrel Show" was held, and this morning the news is all over the city that tonight the auditorium will resound with a brand of minstrelsy superior to anything ever before heard in Glendale.

So great has been the sale of unreserved seats that the doors will be thrown open at 7:15 o'clock, though the curtain will not rise until 8:15 o'clock, states R. Ernest Tucker, Community Service executive, who, with R. D. Crawford, is staging the big show as a benefit for the Community band backed by the Exchange, Rotary, Kiwanis clubs and the Realty board. The performance will be repeated Saturday night, May 17, in order that none who enjoy a real, old-fashioned minstrel show need be turned away.

Judge's Vacation
Judge F. H. Lowe will be present tonight, to see the skit, "Judge Lowe on a Vacation," and to determine if his court can be properly conducted while he goes on his annual fish-hunting expedition. "Is reported. From the same sources it is learned that the court tonight will hear charges brought against the Tuesday Afternoon club, with Pearl Keller's "California Poppy Girls" in the roles of the clubwomen.

When the curtain rises tonight at the Broadway High school auditorium, Dr. Ripley Jackson will be discovered in most amazing blackface, presiding over his dusky flock as interlocutor. The brethren comprise R. E. "Slim" Johnston, W. L. Truitt, William Fletcher, Joe Griffin, A. Fogarty, William Hunter, Peter Hanson, W. H. Daniel and Gilbert Danner, who will respond to the interlocutor's call with a round of songs and jokes guaranteed to whisk away the years and revive old, old memories.

Lots of Talent

J. Arthur Myers will sing "Tommy Lad," a tenor solo; Mayor Spencer Robinson will render "Old Folks at Home," in his inimitable way; Kenneth Jackson, the interlocutor's son, will sing "Swanee Song," there will be a special quartette feature by the Firemen Four, and Mildred C. Jackson will sing "Sunrise and You." The Hunt sisters, assisted by Cecilia Mae Fischer, Julia Pelley, Naida Taylor, Gertrude Muske, Ina Glavin, Fletcher and Helen Orr, of the Pearl Keller school of dancing and dramatic art, will then give a novelty dance.

Plenty of Hits
Then will follow this olio, in nine whirlwind numbers: A Few Words and "Variations," by J. Ripley Jackson; "Jazz Ragtime to Date," by Glendale's Colored Syncopators; "Eclectic Dancing," by William Fletcher and A. Fogarty; "Russian Dance," by Cecilia Mae Fischer; "Darktown Quartette," by Rockwell, Wagon, Blix and Goode; "Musical Act That's Different," by R. D. Crawford; "The Tango, an Impression of the Valentinos," by the Turner sisters; "The Jew and the Swede," by W. L. Truitt and Peter Hanson; and, last but not least, "Judge Lowe on a Vacation," with Mayor Spencer Robinson, R. E. Johnston, A. Fogarty, D. Ripley Jackson, Joe Griffin, W. H. Daniel and Bert Aageson.

The orchestra that will enliven the proceedings comprises: J. A. Becker, F. Turner, E. W. Kingsley, B. Potter, J. Greenwald, E. H. Holzer, R. D. Crawford, C. M. Donaldson, W. L. Reardon, George Whitney and Mrs. J. A. Becker at the piano.

ANNUAL ELECTION PLANNED TONIGHT

Choice of Officers to Be Feature of Banquet of Brotherhood Class

The feature of the banquet tonight at the First Methodist church of the Men's Brotherhood will be the annual election of officers.

In addition to the dinner and election there will be an address by Dr. Ray C. Harker of the West Adams Methodist church of Los Angeles. A fine musical program will also be given. The meeting is open for both men and women.

Stolen Car Stripped Of All Accessories

While Walter Smith of La Crescenta was reporting to the police the theft of his 1920 Chevrolet touring car yesterday, a person calling on the phone advised the detective bureau that it had been found at Glendale avenue and Verdugo road. The car had been stripped of all accessories.

AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN
Join in Research to Safeguard Workers

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 16.—Through a plan now being developed by mine safety experts of Great Britain and the United States, the two countries will trade results in research work in coal mines.

The first step toward this work was taken at a recent mine safety conference held at the U. S. Bureau of Mines station here. H. Foster Bain, director of the Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., and Dr. R. V. Wheeler, director of research on safety in mines for the British government, and Henry Walker, deputy chief inspector of mines of Great Britain, represented their respective countries. Several other British mine experts also attended the conference.

May Exchange Workers
Since the best experimental research work is done here in the winter, and the summer is the principal time for research work in England, Bain believed that the plan might ultimately lead to an exchange of workers during the two seasons.

The department of state at Washington must give approval to the plan before its adoption, and it was pointed out that the exchange plan may lead to similar co-operation along international lines in other industries.

The Winning Essay: Why the Specialty Boot Shop Is the Logical Place to Buy Shoes

Having to buy on an average of 18 to 20 pairs of shoes a year for the family, I have proven beyond a doubt that the Specialty Boot Shop is the best place to buy shoes.

First—Because they have a superior quality.
Second—They are reasonable and careful in fitting.
Third—They stand back of what they say.

I Have Proven
This
If by chance a shoe should not prove to be all that it should and you go back for an adjustment,

The Specialty men treat you right.
They do not simply smile at you in a condescending manner, and say: "I am very sorry, Madam, but we can't help it."
The Specialty man stands back of his words, gets busy and makes a satisfactory adjustment.
They can do this, for their shoes are of such good quality, that it seldom happens.

RALLY IN NINTH FALLS SHORT AS PORTLAND WINS

Angels Drop Second Game Of Present Series to Visitors, 8 to 7

By R. C. FRANKLIN
Los Angeles News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Even though the Los Angeles ball club staged a ninth inning rally, scoring three runs, they lost their second game to Portland yesterday at Washington park, 8 to 7. Pitcher Jess Winters, sustained from the Philadelphia club of the National league at the start of the season, gave indications of turning in a no-hit game, but he weakened in the latter half of the game and nine bingles were made.

Portland walked into the lead in the second with a couple of runs, another in the fourth, three more in the fifth on four hits and a brace more counted in the seventh on three safe ones. Nick Dumovich started on the mound, but after the fifth Long Tom Hughes replaced him and then gave way to Lyle Bigby who acted as pinch hitter and hurler in the latter frames.

TIGERS 6, BEES 2

SALT LAKE, May 16.—It remained for Ken Penner of the Tigers to stop the avalanche of home runs that have been winning for the Bees. He did it with a vengeance yesterday and Bill Essick's crew won the game, 6 to 2.

He held the Bees to eight scattered hits, not one of which was good for more than two bases. He is the first visiting Coast league pitcher at Bonneville park this season that has not allowed at least one home run during the game.

Kallio pitched a good game for Salt Lake, but Vernon bunched hits in the second and eighth innings.

The university pays about two-thirds of the student's expenses, the student roughly a third."

"I have been impressed with the ease with which you build great buildings," Mrs. Franklin said. "Some one has an idea and immediately a great building is put up to carry forward that idea. In these buildings you are making some remarkable educational experiments, but I am not quite certain how useful they are to the children."

Recommends System
Mrs. Franklin in her lectures advocated the Charlotte Mason method of child education which has had extensive trial in the British empire. An important feature of the method is the reading of the world's best authors and philosophers to the children even though such reading apparently would be "over their heads." The child is required to obtain an idea from hearing the reading, and develop it either orally or in writing.

WOMEN'S DAY AT PARK ON SUNDAY

Kerwin Puts New System in Effect; Kiddies Free, Too, with Adults

Not to be outdone by metropolitan cities where "women's day" at the ball parks is a fixed event, Frank Kerwin, boss of the San Fernando road park, where the White Sox play, has decided to inaugurate a system that will allow the fair sex to enter the park free of charge.

As the Sox only play on Sunday, of necessity this must be the day, so beginning next Sunday all ladies accompanied by escorts will be admitted to the park free. This rule also applies to the kiddies. All youngsters accompanied by their parents will be admitted free.

By this means Kerwin hopes to swell the attendance at the White Sox park which faltered along at the end of the Triple A season. It has been picking up since the Sox have been winning regularly, but Sawyer wants the park packed each Sunday so the Sox can do their stuff before a good crowd. So, remember, all women and kiddies free, except when unaccompanied.

El Segundo Next

Fisher of El Segundo wants to win this game next Sunday if he ever wanted anything in his life. The lead for the summer league is now in the hands of the Sox, with the former champs of California close on their tail.

It isn't apple sauce to say that next Sunday's fray should be one of the best ever witnessed in Glendale. Last Sunday's exhibition was booked the same way, and the prophecy came true. With Cruz on the mound and the regular Sox lineup in the field there probably is not a better semi-pro team in the west than Frank Kerwin has gathered together. El Segundo is noted for baseball ability and strength. So place your money and take your choice. The same outfit that beat the Pacific Electric last week will be on hand Sunday. The game is called at 2:30 o'clock.

Tiger Ball Team to Battle at Redlands

The Occidental varsity baseball team is traveling to Redlands tomorrow to meet the Bulldog nine in a return engagement. The Tiger ball players defeated the Redlands university team on Patterson field several weeks ago. Redlands has not won a single contest this season. Squint Fulton, Oxy pitcher, is hurling a better game lately and has improved much since the opening of the season. Whittier will meet the Southern Branch team, the conference leaders, on the Grizzly diamond and Pomona plays at Caltek.

Argue Will Compete In Tryout Tomorrow

Cliff Argue, demon Occidental track star, will compete in pentathlon trials for the Olympic games to be held at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon, according to word from the college today. However, the Tiger flash will not make the trip east to compete in the finals even if he should win Saturday. The event will see Morton Kaer of U. S. C. frosh, C. A. Anderson, Charles Lewis, and Cliff Argue, all vying for honors. The race for first place will undoubtedly be between Kaer and Argue. Argue, if the winner, will allow Kaer to make the trip east to compete in the finals.

He Will Be At Tryouts

Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft, Stanford university weight man, will endeavor to break the world's record of 51 feet in the shotput at the L. A. coliseum on May 24. He also huris the discus and will be worth going miles to see.

By COPELAND C. BURG

For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—

Comes now another young Loch-Invar to add to the west's athletic glory.

He's Glenn Hartranft, potential world's record breaker in the shot and discus.

Hartranft, leading weight performer at Stanford university, madly flung the shot the other day just one-half an inch under the world's record of 51 feet, made in San Francisco by Ralph Rose in 1919.

Hartranft is determined to become a member of the Olympic team competing in Paris this summer and is set upon establishing a new world throw in the shotput event.

This husky son of the Golden West, known as "Tiny," weighs 200 pounds and stands 6 feet 3 inches on level ground. In spite of his bulk he does the 100-yard dash in ten flat, it is said.

Recently Hartranft threw the discus 154 feet 4 1/2 inches. This is less than two feet of the world's record, and the Stanford athlete's hurl is believed to be the fourth best mark ever made in the event.

In a tilt this spring with the University of Southern California, Hartranft actually tossed the shot for a distance of 51 feet 4 inches—a new world's record—but a foul for overstepping the foot-board a scant inch disqualified his magnificent performance.

Hartranft is making his second attempt to upset tradition in track records. Last season he was in superb form, but early in the spring was declared ineligible to compete in college athletics because of low marks in his studies. His failure to qualify as a champion in his classrooms was said to be due to devoting many hours in an unsuccessful attempt to make the Cardinal football team.

Hartranft will be a candidate in the Olympic trials, it is announced, and will also go east to compete in the I. C. A. A. A. at Harvard in May.

Dempsey Will Box In Benefit at Vernon

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—

Champion Jack Dempsey will box two rounds each with a couple of local mit artists at the Vernon Coliseum on June 3, it became known yesterday. The funds received from the fight will be given to unfortunate children, and is being staged under the name of Mrs. C. Doyle, wife of the local fight promoter.

Anyone who has the desire to step with the world's champ may do so, and if there are any huskies in southern California who think they want to break into the fight game right off the reel, here is a good chance for them to go in and try and bowl over the champ. Neither of his opponents has been selected as yet, but they will be a couple of men who can exchange blows with any of them.

At the same time the regular Vernon fights will be staged, and Matchmaker Wadhams is endeavoring to sign up Billy Wells and Joe Benjamin as the main event.

First Golf Match Is Won by Lodge No. 99

The five-man golf team of Lodge No. 99, B. P. O. Elks, almost had a walkaway in the first of a series of golf matches staged with the players of Lodge No. 1239. Dr. F. P. Young was the only member of the team not to turn in a win for Lodge No. 99. L. C. Conrad defeated H. B. Webb; George T. Cline won over Earl S. Patterson; John C. Hodges turned in a victory over F. P. Davis; Emerson P. Morse proved too good a golfer for Dan Kelly, but J. S. Hayward of Lodge No. 1239 took the measure of Dr. F. P. Young.

The pledge to the flag now being taught was originated by James R. Upham of Boston in 1888.

COUNT ON COLTS TO COLLECT CASH

Sinclair Entries in Race Tomorrow Looked Upon As Big Favorites

By DAVIS J. WALSH

For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Eastern "wise money," having shot the trifling matter of $500,000 on St. James and Sarazen in the winter books, passed along the good word today to back the Sinclair entry in a laudable effort to retrieve early losses on the Kentucky derby. Mad Play and Bracade will be coupled in the betting for the "Sinclair" stable at Churchill Downs tomorrow, and eastern gamblers are pleased to believe that one or the other of them will win.

Large commissions have been placed in hand books here, and others will be wired west on the day of the race, to be laid off at the prevailing odds. Bracade is the colt they like, and they are trusting to "Sinclair luck" to make the hunch stand up. Both eastern and western gamblers are laying all kinds of bets on the chances of the two colts, evidently inspired by the belief that the derby will prove one of the most open races of recent years.

Meantime the men behind the winter books, which are operated on a "play or pay" basis, are satisfied to let the situation ride. They got theirs when Sarazen and St. James, heavily played in the future books, were withdrawn from the race last week, and Wise Counselor, the hope of Kentucky, "went bad." There still seemed to be some hope today that Wise Counselor might be rushed to Churchill Downs for the race, but it was a forlorn chance.

Out "Breeding" Perfect weather conditions, overhead and underfoot, brought a veritable swarm of Derby colts on the run from their stalls to the Churchill Downs track today, although several highly-esteemed entries failed to show until later in the day. Among the early risers were Transmute and Klondyke of the Whitney stables; King Gorin II, Wild Astor and Colonel Gilmore, and they indulged in what is termed "breeding" in our best circles.

None of the favored colts—Mad Play, Black Gold, Chilhowee, Altawood, Nautical, Beau Butler, Revenue Agent and Mr. Mutt—were up with the lark and the sun, several of them being so near post form as to make any work-out they hold today a matter of extreme caution.

Some Look Good Transmute, best of the early morning group, failed to step out at any time, merely jogging, but Klondyke, his stable mate, looked rather good in breezing a quarter in twenty-four seconds, hard held. It is hardly likely that King Gorin II and Colonel Gilmore will go to the post, but it is noteworthy that each ran a half mile, the former in 49 3-5 and the latter a second faster. Wild Astor, an entry of indeterminate staying power, but a whole lot of speed, turned in a 53-second half, pulled up.

They are the poison ivy of the field, with the exception of Transmute. The latter, in fact, is one of the east's big numbers of a race which promises to develop great sectional competition. As some of the boys see it, the Derby will come down to a decision between four colts of the east—Mad Play, Nautical, Transmute and Revenue Agent—and as many from the west—Black Gold, Chilhowee, Beau Butler and Altawood.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball—
If you want a rule interpreted—
If you want to know anything about the game—
Write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of the Evening News, 811 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—Runner on second and first base. Batter tapped the ball to the outfield. It was thrown in and as the runner was passing third base the ball in some way hit the ground and bounded under arm and remained there until he was nearly home. Was the ball dead or alive? The umpire said there was no rule to govern the play.

ANSWER—It was a wild throw. That is the only way in which the rule can be ruled. If the ball had hit the runner and bounded away from him it would have been a wild throw and still remains one if it lodged under his arm.

QUESTION—Runner is on third base and there are no outs. Pitcher is not in his box. Runner tries to score but the batter steps in and hits the ball. What should the umpire do?

ANSWER—As the pitcher was not in his box it is evident that the ball was thrown to the plate for a fielding play. The batter by striking it interfered with the catcher. The batter could be called out.

QUESTION—Runner makes a base hit and then decides that he will go to second. He gets about ten feet beyond the base and then turns back to first. The ball is fielded by the ground and may be base touched or may be the base touched to put him out?

ANSWER—The runner must be touched. He has made it which is no longer forced. He turns back to first base of his own volition.

QUESTION—Is Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox weak in control always?

ANSWER—No. He pitches with very good control quite often.

Carpentier Working Out at Beach Camp

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 16.—Georges Carpentier, refreshed by a good night's rest after his transition from Paris to the sand dunes of Lake Michigan within one week, has started his active workouts for the battle with Tom Gibbons. Pekin cottage, at Sheridan Beach, houses the former idol of France and his party, including the mercurial but canny Francois Descamps; Paul Fritsch, and various and sundry individuals essential to a training camp.

Chicago, still eager for a glimpse of the French fighter, will be given a chance to transmute that wish into box office receipts when Carpentier returns for a brief call next week. Workouts, meantime, are held at a social club near the cottage where Georges and his entourage are camped.

Tom Gibbons returned to his schedule yesterday, his fourth day of training camp work, after a night as referee at the army-navy boxing tryouts aboard the U. S. S. Commodore.

SPECIAL SERVICE HELPS AUTOISTS

Sunset Motor Works Starts Novel System to Aid Local Motorists

Different and economical is the special service offered by the Sunset Motor works, West Broadway at Pacific, to car owners of Glendale and vicinity. Taking the form of trouble insurance this service provides the motorist with proper care for his car as well as free tow service in case of trouble on the road.

The certificate is sold on a yearly basis and costs the car owner $2.50 per month. For this sum the firm gives the car a monthly greasing and thorough inspection, free battery service, free tow car service within twenty miles of Glendale and a 10 per cent discount on all labor and accessories.

This service is distinctive of the Sunset Motor works and is something novel in garage management. It relieves the car owner of all worry pertaining to the care and upkeep and guarantees the car being in perfect shape at all times.

The management is specializing in prompt service to patrons in trouble, and besides providing a tow car at any time of day or night, also sends a touring car to take the occupants of the disabled machine to their destination.

The owners claim that the service will pay for itself many times over during the year. They report that it is taking very well in Glendale and is receiving patronage from Hollywood and other neighboring towns.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BUPPER

Uncle Wiggily was just starting out from his hollow stump bungalow one morning when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy looked out of the window and cried: "Oh, here she comes!"

"Who?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, of whom you asked me to borrow some eggs for a cake?"

"No, it isn't Mrs. Wibblewobble," whispered Nurse Jane. "It's Baby Bunty, and if she sees you going off adventuring she'll tease to come along. Come in and go out the back door, Wiggily! Then she won't see you!"

"Oh, I couldn't disappoint the little rabbit child that way," said Mr. Longears with a kind twinkle of his pink nose. "No matter if Bunty sees me, perhaps she won't want to go with me!"

"Oh, yes she will!" said Nurse Jane. And the muskrat lady housekeeper was right. No sooner did Baby Bunty catch sight of the rabbit gentleman, starting out, than Bunty cried:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, may I come with you?"

"No!" said Nurse Jane, quickly. "Boo hoo! Oh, dear! Nobody loves me!" sobbed Bunty.

"There now! Don't cry!" spoke kind Uncle Wiggily. "Dry your tears, Bunty, my dear!"

"Will you—w—w—will y—y—y—ou take me w—w—w—with you?" sobbed Bunty.

"Oh, yes, come along!" said the rabbit gentleman. "I knew just how it would be," exclaimed Nurse Jane, hurrying in the bungalow and shutting the door rather hard. "I knew it."

But, after all, Uncle Wiggily didn't seem to mind very much taking Baby Bunty with him. The little rabbit girl hopped along by his side, now and then taking hold of his paw, and she kept asking questions. "What makes the sky blue? Why are the dandelions so yellow? Do you think we'll find any sparrowgrass, Uncle Wiggily? Does the old fox live down this way? What makes the brook bubble? Why do roses smell so sweet? Why does—?"

"Look here, Baby Bunty!" cried the rabbit gentleman at last. "Do you ever keep still?"

"What you mean—keep still?" asked Bunty, surprised like.

"I mean do you ever stop talking?"

"Sometimes," and Bunty smiled.

"When are those times?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"When I have some bupper to eat," answered Baby Bunty.

"Bupper? What's bupper?" cried Mr. Longears. "Do you mean SUPPER, Bunty?"

"No, Uncle Wig. I don't mean zazzaky mean supper. When Mrs. Littlealt wants me to keep quiet she gives me some bread and butter. But I call it bupper 'cause bread and butter is too long. An' if I had some bupper now I couldn't talk while I was eatin' it an'—"

"Come on, Baby Bunty!" cried Uncle Wiggily, catching hold of her paw and dragging her along. "Where we goin'?" she asked.

"I'm going to get you some 'bupper,' as you call it!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. They were near the kennel house of Mrs. Bow Wow, the lady dog, and she gave Baby Bunty a large slice of bread and butter when Uncle Wiggily asked for it.

"Now we'll go along and I can think while you eat your supper," said Mr. Longears. So they hopped along together until, at a sudden, Baby Bunty cried:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!"

"What's the matter now?" asked Mr. Longears, looking back.

Nobody Loves me! sobbed Bunty gravel and sand, into the open mouth of the bad chap.

"Eat that before you eat me!" cried the bunny uncle. And when the Bob Cat closed his teeth down on the grit, gravel and stones in the bread and butter he broke off some of his teeth, and his mouth was so filled with dirt that he howled, "Wow! Yow! Scow!" and away he ran to get a drink of water, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all.

"Aren't you glad you took me an' my bupper for a walk?" asked Bunty, when they had run on and were given some fresh bread and butter at Aunt Lettie's house. "Aren't you glad, Uncle Wig?"

"Very glad, indeed!" laughed Mr. Longears. And if the gold fish doesn't begin eating its rubber boots, thinking they are good for chewing gum, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's sugar cookies.

"INDIA IS READY FOR SELF RULE," SAYS GANDHI

"Civil disobedience is always an advisable weapon when the government is not based on the will of the people, but it is practicable only when the masses are imbued with a spirit of nonviolence," Mahatma Gandhi, Indian non-cooperation leader, said in a recent interview.

"India is now ready for self-rule if it is granted, but India is not able to seize self-rule either by force, which I oppose, or by disciplined nonviolence."

Gandhi defined that mysterious word Swaraj.

"It means a parliamentary government, but I hope not in the sense of western nations, where the British interests reign supreme. It means also a return of India's ancient life. Despite years of sneering I still believe the home spinning wheel can out the British factory."

If so, how can British capital which is the sole reason for the British dominion expect compensation?

Gandhi said he thought the British, whom he did not regard as a bad people, would eventually hit an honorable agreement, adding that he had good reasons for this hope.

"We fear the Afghans. Once the Hindus and Moslems are united and established, the emirs will not attack their fellow Moslems."

"If Russia attacks us, we expect the militaristic nations of Europe to come to our aid to prevent Russia from becoming too strong, and we should welcome the aid. That is what I think of the present rulers of Russia. I take them at their face value. What is built by force ends by force."

"What I want," he said, "is the end of the Indian's mortal fear of the white skin, which was more prevalent when I was a boy than now."

"FASCISM HAS SOUND ECONOMIC BASE," SAYS ITALIAN ENVOY TO U. S.

A vigorous defense of the Mussolini regime in Italy, supported by statistics showing Fascism has placed Italy on a sound economic foundation, was made recently by Prince Gasia Caetani, Italian ambassador to the United States.

"Mussolini," Prince Caetani said, "is convinced it matters little what is the politics of a government as long as it operates in full harmony with the laws of economics, prevents politics from interfering, and has the energy and moral courage to carry out what is required by these laws.

"Many people looked with distrust toward Mussolini, and are now amazed at what Fascism has accomplished. It was done with the same means as are at the disposal of every government, but for the addition of one factor, will power—the leader and of the people. Mussolini could not accomplish the miracle if he did not have behind him the people of Italy."

"The moment has not yet come to sing victory. Yet wonders have been accomplished. Industrial strikes in Italy were only one-fourth as many as in 1922. School reforms have been completed. New industries have started. The budget deficit has been decreased by 1,000,000,000 lire and the lira has been stabilized. Italian war loan securities have gained; government bonds are at par; judicial administrative and school reforms have been completed; the Italian state railways have been placed on a sound basis; trade between Italy and the United States has increased."

SERVICE

Yet, who, thus looking backward o'er his years, Feels not his eyelids wet with grateful tears

If he hath been Permitted, weak and sinful as he was,

To cheer and aid in some ennobling cause His fellow men?

If he hath hidden the outcast, or let in A ray of sunshine to a cell, or sin.

If he hath lent Strength to the weak, and in an hour of need,

Over the suffering, middleless of his creed Or home, hath bent,

He hath not lived in vain, and while he gives The praise to Him, in whom he moves and lives.

With thankful heart; He gazes backward, and with hope before, Knowing that from his works he henceforth part.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By LLOYD MELLETT For International News Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 16.—Should churches be given a place in the new $10,000,000 war memorial plaza which is to include among other things the permanent national headquarters of the American Legion?

This highly controversial subject has suddenly become an agitating one for clergymen, laymen, officials, citizens, educators and pupils.

The question, briefly stated, is: Would artistic values be lowered by allowing the church edifices already standing to remain on the plaza site?

Aside from the delicacy involved because some denominations would be represented and others not, the dispute is an interesting one.

Some contend that churches have no place in the imposing tribute to Indianapolis and Indiana are to pay to the dead of the World War.

Others say it is most fitting that a monument to the heroic dead and the houses erected for the worship of God stand together.

Favoring inclusion of the religious structures, proponents point to justification of their views in the pages of ancient history.

"Centuries have admired the funeral oration of Pericles at Seramikus where were buried in holy soil the heroic dead of Thermopylae," one writer said.

"But Pericles was wrong and the world's admiration was error," he continued in sarcastic vein. "There should be no holiness in reverence of the dead. It is inartistic."

The church and the graveyard with its monuments to the dead in close proximity, as they are found in most of the Caucasian

Views and Theatres

THE GLENDALE

"The Night Message," written and directed by Perley Poore Sheehan, celebrated author, affords a most gripping entertainment at the Glendale Theatre. For years Sheehan was a reporter on the New York Herald and he tells the story with a keen sense of news values.

It is melodrama; vivid, thrilling melodrama; but so naturally acted, so logically told, that it seems nothing but life itself. He told it in a chain of logical happenings, never digressing from the main story, and one sits enthralled and spellbound through every foot of it.

Gladys Hulette, who played the leading feminine role in "Tolable David," Edgar Kennedy of "Leather Pushers" fame, Margaret Seldon, a prominent player in "A Lady of Quality," are among the players.

TITLES 1002 FILMS

H. M. Walker, who writes droll titles for Hal Roach's comedies, lives in a prolific atmosphere. He has a hobby for cats. On the day that Walker finished titling his 1002nd picture for Roach, the queen of the Walker feline harem gave birth to a litter of kittens that brought her family to a total of thirty-two. The thirty-two kittens and the subtitles for the 1002 motion pictures were all born in the same smoke-filled sanctum.

WAS VERY NERVOUS

Said naive and charming Andre Lafayette of Tully's "Tribe," who recently occupying "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" contracted a bad case of oak poisoning. Production was held up for a time. Upon completion of "Tess" Miss Sweet will make another picture under her husband's (Marshall Neilan's) direction.

CONFESSIONS OF A BABY

Grammie to the Rescue
"Oh, come over quickly, somebody! Alice is dying!" These terrified words came from Mr. Elliot, as my Daddy responded to a terrific banging on our door about midnight last night. Without giving any explanations, our neighbor bounded back to his own house.

My Daddy first thing told my Grammie, who, luckily, was visiting me. Daddy knew that she had had lots of experience with babies and that she is resourceful. Then he woke Mama. While they were getting into their clothes, which they did in a jiffy, he telephoned to our doctor because he was sure that Mr. Elliot was too excited to have done that himself.

Little Alice certainly looked as though she might be dying. Between loud, rasping, barking-like coughs, she was struggling so to catch her breath that it seemed as though she might strangle. Her little face was bluish. Her Mama was walking the floor with her, which they did in a jiffy, he telephoned to our doctor because he was sure that Mr. Elliot was too excited to have done that himself.

Immediately Grammie stepped into the room. She said: "Croup! Don't worry. She'll be all right in a little while. It isn't dangerous. Stop crying, Mrs. Elliot. Get a hot bath ready while I undress her." Quickly this was done, and putting her elbow in the water to be sure that it was not too hot, Grammie slipped little Alice into it.

Almost immediately Alice's rasping breathing ceased and she showed she was greatly relieved. To be doubly sure the relief would stay, Grammie gave directions for making a croup tent. She had them put an open umbrella over the baby's crib and over this a sheet or two, making a tent. A tea kettle two-thirds full of water which was boiling vigorously, was placed on a chair at the side near the foot of the crib, and the spout of the kettle was put under the sheet. A teaspoon of compound tincture of benzoin to the quart of water was put into the kettle. The baby was taken from the bath, dried thoroughly and dressed for the night, and placed in her crib under the tent, and soon she was sleeping peacefully as though nothing had happened to her.

By this time, our cheery Doctor had arrived. "Good work!" she beamed on Grammie, when she saw what she had done. "Old fashioned remedies still in style, then, eh Doctor?" Grammie responded.

Variety In Outdoor Styles

Every taste in dress can be satisfied by the wide range of fashion offered in present day types of suits adapted to wear for every occasion that calls for outdoor garments.

By MME. LISBETH.

Styles to suit all comers is the slogan of today's showings in the shops. If a three-piece suit is the height of your ambition or the costume that best suits your style why very handsome three-piece suits are to be had and a variety is shown in the styles and suits. And, of course, the separate coat, too, may be seen in all its glory in any number of materials and styles.

It is fashioned of navy twill with the attached blouse of white crepe de chine. The blouse is embroidered in colors and the coat is braided in white and edged with ermine. This same ermine never fails to give a sumptuous look to any suit with which it is used. There is something rather military about the combination of blue and white—military or naval.

An entirely different type of three-piece is shown in the center. Where the one on the left is suited to the more mature as well as the young woman the central one is decidedly youthful in its design. It is a silk suit with the blouse of crepe in a contrasting color. While few would choose the somewhat jazzy design with which this suit is decorated, the suit itself has good lines and might be developed in plain colors and would be very practical and smart.

On the right is one of the hand-somest of the season's showing of separate, full length coats. It is made of black silk with a single large ornament fastening it and a large collar of gray fox to add to its distinction. And if none of these costumes appeals to you there is always the mannish tailleur which holds first place in the hearts of many women because of its trim lines and general smartness.

CHIC NAVY SUIT

NEW YORK, May 16.—There is an appealing youthfulness about the little navy suit shown here today with white pique, here the coat of which fastens only at the neck and flares open at the waist. It is, of course, a short coat and has a swanky throw scarf of the navy material.

TOP COAT STYLES

NEW YORK, May 16.—Top coats at present are in many styles, including those which are half cape and half coat. Some of them have dozens of tiny glass buttons with an edging of silver braid. Others have narrow bands of fur around the collar and hem.

CAPE MUST MATCH

LONDON, May 16.—Often today when a frock is given a panel in apron form, it has a deep cape collar to match. The panel, usually finely plaited, is often in two tiers, and the cape—hanging from the shoulders in back—copies the two-tiered effect.

than me? If so, please tell me how I can win his love.

ONE VERY THANKFUL

The boy does not love you, and he showed a lack of respect for you by making love to you in the show. Do not let boys be so free even if you like them. When a young man makes love to a girl the first night or on short acquaintance she may be sure he is promiscuous in his love-making and shows lack of respect for her.

WANTS TO WIN LOVE

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl in my teens. There is a certain boy whom I like very much. The other night in a show I had to sit by him. By his actions he seemed to love me, but after the show he took my girl friend home. Was it because he loves her more

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

USELESS LOVE

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl in my teens. There are two boys here and I like both. One of the boys is very much in love with me, but the other is doubtful. The one I love most used to go with me, but now he is going with my girl friend. He is nice-looking but not out of the ordinary. This one boy seems to have lost interest in me. Please tell me how I can win his love.

BLACK HAIR.

It would be useless to try to win the boy's love now that he has lost interest in you. Besides, it would not be fair to your girl friend to try to get him away from her. You would not like it if a girl deliberately tried to get a boy away from you.

UNUSUAL LOVER

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl 16 years old and have been going with a boy 21 since last June. I thought I loved him at first, but he kept coming so often I got sick and tired of him. Every Wednesday he took me to a show and he came up nearly every Sunday until one day people began to talk about our being married. Some boys thought it would be a joke and started it. I quit him then. I said I liked him but could not go with him any more. The truth was I was tickled to death to find some reason for telling him to stay at home. He time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Now sift together three cups of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and two teaspoons of baking powder and add this dry mixture to the above mixture. It will make a medium-soft dough. Toss it onto a slightly-floured bread board and roll one-half inch thick. Cut with a doughnut cutter and fry in deep, hot fat like our doughnuts. When cool sprinkle with powdered sugar. Bake about eight minutes in a hot oven after cutting out with ordinary cookie cutter and placing one-half inch apart on a greased pan."

COMMUNITY SING PROGRAM PLEASURES

Old Favorites Win Applause From Capacity House At La Crescenta

MONTROSE, May 16.—The weekly community sing was held this week at the La Crescenta schoolhouse, where a very good attendance was in evidence. Mr. Prosper directed the chorus through the singing of numbers of the old favorites, which everyone enjoys.

Though it had been announced that Miss Margaret Hauber would play, after trying over the school piano, which is a player, Miss Hauber felt that it would not do justice to solo work, and announced that the pedals and action were so stiff she could not present her difficult numbers properly. However, Miss Hauber presented two artists in her place.

Little Miss Craig Fulson, a 9-year-old pupil of Miss Hauber's, gave the first movement of the Sonatina by Kohler. This youngster's fingering, time and touch are unusual in one so young, and show the careful and proper training she has received.

John Porter, lyric tenor, accompanied by Margaret Hauber, was a treat for the music lovers, his first number being "Macushla," and the encore being "At Dawning." Mr. Porter sang so beautifully that his audience demanded a second encore, which was "Thank God for a Garden."

Mrs. Darrow Praised Mr. Prosper then spoke on the work of the community sing, and thanked Mrs. Mary B. Darrow for her co-operation through the press. Mrs. Hopkins, president of the sing, also thanked Mrs. Darrow, and asked for a rising vote of thanks, after which Mrs. Darrow was asked to speak on the sing, which she did.

Mrs. G. Edwards of Verdugo Knolls, who has a beautiful soprano voice, sang "A Dream," Mrs. Edwards, who is vice-president of the organization, is always a favorite, as she is so generous with her songs.

Miss Hauber will play for the chorus next week at the Montrose schoolhouse, as the piano there is practically new.

The Montecito club, which has recently disbanded, has generously turned over its piano as a gift to the Montrose schoolhouse. This was a needed thing, as the school had no piano, and there seemed no immediate prospect of there being one placed there.

PLAN COMPOSITE BOOSTERS' GROUP

Civic and Social Bodies to Discuss Organization at Meet May 19th

TUJUNGA, May 16.—With the object of establishing an organization composed of representatives from the Tujunga Kiwanis club, Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, Valley Center Improvement association, Tujunga Valley Realty board, American Legion and Sunland Chamber of Commerce, the officers and directors of the Kiwanis club have issued an invitation to these organizations to attend a smoker and round table discussion of the plan at Legion hall Monday evening, May 19.

Officers of the Kiwanis club believe that such an organization is needed in the Tujunga-Sunland district and that much benefit would result to all concerned. The first meeting will probably be given over to a discussion of the details on organization and to the problems of the district, including the providing of parks and playgrounds, organized charity work, the needs of roads in the community and other subjects of general interest to the entire section which have not already been taken up by other organizations.

Valley Council Will Discuss Fire Plans

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—On Monday night the La Crescenta Valley Council will meet at the La Crescenta schoolhouse for business discussion of fire protection. A speaker from the Los Angeles County Fire Protection League will be present to speak and will present the advantages accruing from affiliation with the league by individual fire protection districts.

The purpose of the league, which was formed previous to the fire districts being thoroughly organized, is to secure the advantages of better purchasing power in buying equipment and to help make all the districts into a county fire fighting force.

Street improvements will also be taken up and many other matters of local interest.

Mark Collins, president of the Improvement association, will preside.

Find Poisoned Meat In Street, Is Claim

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—Mrs. Frank Smith Card, resident humane officer, is investigating the affair of the poisoned meat, large lumps of which are alleged to have been found on Alta avenue. Mrs. Card is very earnest in her desire to carry on her work as officer properly, and will investigate any cases reported to her. She resides on East Altura.

Why I Am In Glendale

It was in June last year that wife and I drove from Lansing, Michigan, to Southern California, with the intention of making our future home here. We drove all over Southern California before locating permanently, looking for the most desirable place in which to make a home.

We were very favorably impressed with Glendale from the first visit, and after considering the very desirable geographical location from all angles, the comparatively reasonable price of real estate, the future of Glendale, the wonderful scenery, beautiful homes, lawns and flowers, ideal climate, excellent schools and churches and the fine spirit of sociability found here, we decided Glendale was by far our first choice, so we purchased a home and "lived happily ever afterwards."

The longer we live here the better we like it, and we are proud to be residents of Glendale, California, the fastest growing city in America.

YOUTH IS HELP IN SAVING LIFE

Perform Unusual Operation in Hospital as Skin, Blood Changed

BURBANK, May 16.—Carl Strickland, brother of O. Strickland, the local motorcycle police, is the central figure in one of the most amazing skin and blood transfers in the history of surgery. For eleven days he lay at the Angelus hospital, Los Angeles, strapped to the side of his fellow employee, George Selsing, while a section of his thigh 2½ inches wide, 10 inches long and ½ of an inch thick was carved out, with the exception of a small connection sufficient to allow his body to continue to circulate, and the slab of skin bound to a great wound in Selsing's leg, which for three years had refused to heal.

The operation was an unqualified success, reports O. Strickland, brother of the heroic youth, and both giver and receiver of the life-saving tissue are now doing well. It is said at the hospital that the operation will make surgical history.

CAST IS CHOSEN FOR CLUB'S PLAY

'Hazel Kirk' Is Selected by Dramatic Section in Drive for Funds

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—The drama section of the La Crescenta Woman's club has decided on the first play to be presented by them to raise funds for the club's new home. "Hazel Kirk," the popular old play, has been chosen. Mrs. H. Farmer will direct the play and Mrs. Farmer has the reputation of raising large sums for eastern clubs with "Hazel Kirk" and it is felt will do the same here.

The cast is as follows: Mrs. Jessie Hansen, Delia; Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, Countess of Carrington; Mrs. Blanche Hopkins, Hazel Kirk; Mrs. Verna Harmon Walker, Mercy Kirk; Mrs. Anna Aiken, Joe and Clara.

The male portion of the cast is still being persuaded to take part and will be announced later. They will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen on East Piedmont street, Monday night.

Dance on Saturday Saturday night, May 17, the Woman's club will give its regular monthly dance. Mrs. C. A. Haskins and Mrs. G. Sullivan will be hostesses. Besides dancing there will be bridge and mah-jongg tables on the stage for those who prefer playing to dancing. Stanley's orchestra of Pasadena will provide the music.

Tomorrow the Woman's Service league of the La Crescenta Community church will hold a cooked food sale at Ewers store on Piedmont and Los Angeles avenue.

Court Paroles Boys To Kiwanis President

TUJUNGA, May 16.—Two boys who broke into the store of Dean & Company on Sunset boulevard, whose names are withheld at the request of the mothers, have been paroled to A. C. Stover, president of the Tujunga Kiwanis club. The case came up the first of the week in a Los Angeles court and Mr. Stover offered to vouch for the future good conduct of the boys, who had taken knives, twine and other small articles from the store. According to the terms of the parole the boys will report to the Kiwanis president at regular intervals until the term of their parole has expired.

Installs Pipe Organ In Tujunga Theatre

TUJUNGA, May 16.—A new Wurlitzer pipe organ has been received by W. A. Ralph, proprietor of the Tujunga Valley theatre, and is being installed. The mechanism will be operated from under the stage and the manager believes it will prove an attractive addition to the features offered at the picture house. Mr. Ralph took over the lease of the property from Ralph Peronnet recently and intends to continue the same high class shows that have prevailed in the past.

VALLEY CITY HAS FULL FIRE CREW

Ten Men in Force on Guard Day and Night; Latest Equipment Used

LANKERSHIM, May 16.—This community now has a fire engine company manned by a crew of ten men. The equipment is of the very latest and best type, according to J. A. Frazer, captain of the company, who was transferred here from No. 16, First and Hope streets, Los Angeles. He is a local resident and has under him in Division B Engineer Anderson, Auto Fireman George K. Collins, Fireman F. B. Yonkers and J. P. Clifton, who are at present on duty. Division A is the night crew composed of David Noble, Lieutenant; Ivan Case, engineer, and Fred Uhrig, Henry Nast, John Draper and Ralph Smith, firemen. The valley division is under Chief Smucker, who is stationed at Van Nuys. Most of the men will make permanent homes here.

The fire telephone number is 291 and Captain Frazer is anxious that people paste this number on their phones.

VALLEY PLAYERS AWAIT MEETING

Special Train Will Bring Chicago Delegates to Drama Convention

EAGLE ROCK, May 16.—Members of the Valley Players, under the direction of Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, are much interested in the special train that leaves Chicago on May 21 bearing members of the Drama League of America to the national convention to be held in Pasadena from May 27 to June 2.

The party will arrive in Pasadena Tuesday evening, May 27, in time for the first guest-performance of St. John Ervine's "Jane Clegg" in the Community Playhouse, under the direction of Gilmore Brown. Other little theatre groups will appear during the week—notably it is hoped the winners of the Belasco Trophy in this year's New York Little Theatre tournament, who have been invited.

The Eagle Rock group, under Mrs. Fischer, will participate in the program, and several members are assisting in arrangements. One of the biggest events of the convention will be the laying of the cornerstone of the new Pasadena Community playhouse, which is to cost $250,000, and promises to be the finest building in America devoted entirely to amateur theatricals.

Payday Brings Joy To Invalid Workers

TUJUNGA, May 16.—The man who is regularly employed seldom gets any particular thrill on payday, but when one has not had any income for some time, payday is quite an event. Tuesday the workers in the Dolly Varden toy furniture shop developed gymnastic talents hitherto unsuspected. It was payday, the first that many of the employees had known for many months and in some cases years.

The shop was established a short time ago by the California Tuberculosis association and employs convalescent patients in the manufacture of small articles of toy furniture, which are contracted for by eastern firms. The work is light and suitable to semi-invalids, who seldom have an opportunity to earn money without further impairing their health.

Tuesday the shop paid them for their first week's work and feet that had not danced for many moons showed signs of developing the "buck and wing" itch.

Plan Formal Opening Of New Drug Store

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—Mr. Behn will hold a formal opening tomorrow, Saturday in the La Crescenta Pharmacy of which he is now the proprietor. It is expected a large crowd will be on hand for the opening.

BIG SILK SHIPMENT

SEATTLE, May 16.—About $15,000,000 worth of raw silk brought here from Japan this week is now on the way to eastern markets.

ELECT NEW HEAD OF WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. Charles Turck Chosen President to Succeed Mrs. C. A. Haskins

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—At the yearly election of the La Crescenta Women's club, Mrs. Charles Turck was elected president for the coming year. Mrs. Turck, who formerly resided in Glendale, is an ardent clubwoman, and it is felt, will be the proper person to carry this club through its building year. Mrs. Turck was unanimously elected, and now that she has completed her spacious new home, will have more time to give the club as its president.

Mrs. C. A. Haskins, retiring president, will hold the office of first vice-president; Mrs. Howard Reynolds, second vice-president; Mrs. Mildred Howard, Montrose, third vice-president; Mrs. Viola Waddell, Glendale, fourth vice-president. Other officers for the year are: Mrs. Cochran, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred Pinkers, parliamentary; Mrs. J. Martin, treasurer; Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, historian and press chairman, and Mrs. Caroline Minford, Verdugo Knolls, Glendale, corresponding secretary.

Thanks for Wreath A letter was read from Harry Peters, thanking the club for the floral token sent to his late wife's funeral.

The birthday basket received contributions from the following members: Mrs. Charles Turck, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Fred Kimball, Mrs. H. Reynolds, and a contribution from Master Stuart Collins, whose birthday is during this month, making the total $3.62.

The club basket made $2.35 during the month, while the club dance tomorrow night is expected to bring up the month's earnings to a large sum. Delegates chosen to attend the biennial convention were Mrs. Howard Reynolds; alternate, Mrs. G. Dunlop. Mrs. Anna Aiken announced she had collected $20.10 so far in her drive for building funds, receiving a standing vote of thanks for her effort. At present the club has in its treasury $344.7.

PLAN TO INSTALL EXTRA HYDRANTS

Tujunga-Sunland District to Have More Protection In Event of Fire

SUNLAND, May 16.—Seventy fire hydrants will be installed in the Tujunga-Sunland district by the county for use in combating fires under the regulations of the newly-formed fire protection district, according to a report made at a meeting of the Valley Center Improvement association by Lloyd Foster, member of the advisory board of the district. The cost of the hydrants will be $36 each, installed. Mr. Foster stated that the county has purchased 1000 of these hydrants for installation in the various fire protection districts recently formed.

Forty street signs are to be erected by the association in the territory between Palm avenue and Third street. The Sunland Chamber of Commerce is making 160 of these signs for erection in the territory west of Tujunga, and the Valley Center association will pay part of the cost.

AROUND TUJUNGA

TUJUNGA, May 16.—Eileen Hamlin, a pupil in the Tujunga school, won first prize in the annual declamation contest by reciting a poem, "Tujunga," written by a Tujunga poet, Marion Earl. Eighteen other pupils competed in the contest, each room in the school being represented.

Helen Holmes won second prize; Marion Messick won third; Carmen Jones, fourth; Hugh Stewart, fifth prize. Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, Mrs. E. A. Miller and J. H. Weller were judges. Tujunga pennants were the prizes given the first three winners.

The Girls' Glee club made its first public appearance following the declamation contest, garbed in gypsy costumes. It was estimated that 350 parents and friends attended the contest which was a part of the annual school exhibit program and was held in the new school auditorium recently completed.

Boys of the school have built two volleyball courts for use of the upper grades. One of the courts is also used by the younger pupils.

A club organized among the girls during "Better English Week" has grown from three to fourteen members, with regular elected officers. The treasury became prosperous at first from fines imposed on members for mistakes in grammar, but has since declined to a point bordering on bankruptcy, since the members have learned to watch their English.

The Mystic Maidens is another club among the girls, organized for the promotion of good times. Pins have been selected and will be ordered for each member.

FIX ELECTION PAY

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Compensation of election officials who served on May 6 has been set by the City Council at $5 for handling the municipal ballots. This item will total about $30,000. The county is expected to pay $10 each for handling the primary and flood control ballots.

MUSIC WEEK AID TO ENTIRE CITY

Officials Feel Not All of Harmony Was Produced by Artists

BURBANK, May 16.—Music Week had a beneficial effect on this city, believes President Charles B. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce. He declared in a report to the board of directors that it cleared the atmosphere of factional differences, brought about a more kindly feeling of individuals toward one another, stimulated optimism, toned down race and sectional prejudices and, in fact, struck a harmonious note straight through the community.

"If Better Homes Week has been as beneficial an effect as did Music Week," said Mr. Wood, "the board will be well rewarded for endorsing the aims and purposes of the week."

Return North After Visit With Parents

LA CRESCENTA, May 16.—C. E. Erwin's son, with his wife and baby daughter, left for their home in Stanford, after having an enjoyable visit here with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Erwin of Michigan avenue. Mr. Erwin, Jr., is auditor of Stanford University.

While here, little Miss Mary Ann celebrated her first birthday in fitting style with a party, with a beautiful angel cake as the pièce de résistance, with one lone pink candle on top. Miss Mary Ann, however, had the pleasure of blowing out the candle before the cake was cut.

EXTEND SEASON

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—The International Shoe company is extending the road season of its salesmen in the hope of overcoming unfavorable conditions which have affected sales this spring.

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen: For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time. I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day. The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine. Yours for success, William Firth, Jr., 56 Volan St., Merchantville, N. J.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GIVES PROGRAM

Proceeds Go to Scholarship Fund; Event Is Held at Occidental College

EAGLE ROCK, May 16.—Music lovers were treated to a spirited concert last night at the Women's club by the Occidental college girls glee club, under the direction of Miss Maud Reeves Barnard, the proceeds going to the scholarship fund.

In addition to a great variety of typical college songs, the program was remarkably varied, including among the features the classics "Morning" (Oley Speaks), "Valse Trieste" (Sohelius), whistling solos, saxophone solos, readings, vocal numbers and a very dainty number, "The Old Fashioned Girls," quartet. Four dainty misses, wearing the costumes of a period of long ago, sang songs of that generation and danced the graceful minuet. One of the quartet gave a group of dialect piano-logs, and the entire program proved one of charming variety presented by musicians of much versatility.

PLAN BIG PARADE

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—A monster parade through the principal streets of Hollywood will feature this city's observance of Memorial day. It was announced today by officials of the Hollywood post of the American Legion. All other ex-service and military organizations will take part in the parade.

PROFESSORS AS GUESTS

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—University presidents, guests of the city, include Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of the same institution, and Dr. Henry Suzzallo, president of the University of Washington. The latter registered at the Alexandria.

FAVORS WEARING OF BLACK GOWNS BY ALL LAWYERS

Custom Would Create More Respect for Courts, Jurist Declares

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, May 16.—A New York judge returning from Europe has come out in favor of compelling all lawyers to wear black gowns while pleading a case or representing a client in all but the most inferior of the federal, state and county courts. This judge was greatly impressed by the dignity of the courts in Europe, especially those in Great Britain, and he is confident that added dignity and authority would be lent to American courts if the custom of gowning not alone the bench but the barristers as well were followed in this country.

The opinion of a single judge on a revolutionary proposal of this sort might not be regarded as significant by the great mass of attorneys and jurists, but the move gains importance in view of the fact that a thousand or more members of the American Bar association are going to England this summer to be the guests of the British bar and to study the methods and customs of the British courts. Many of the American lawyers will continue their journey to the Continent and take a peek at the courts of the other nations.

It is the confident belief of the New York judge that virtually all of the American attorneys will come back imbued with the same impressions which were made upon him, and that they may lend their support to the suggestion that American courts be surrounded with greater formality. Unquestionably formality makes for respect, either consciously or unconsciously. Here in the state supreme court when the judge enters to take his place on the bench, all spectators rise. And the individuals at the bar are compelled to rise and remain standing until the judge is seated. This does not apply only to the opening of the court in the morning when the clerk makes his call, but applies to recesses and other occasions when the judge leaves the bench.

In most of the American courts, however, even the judges are not gowned. In a great many states only the supreme court justices appear in the black flowing robes.

Even in the lower branches of the federal courts the wearing of gowns is not compulsory. Therefore, it is evident that before the movement to compel lawyers to wear gowns can make much headway, there must first be a general application of the rule to the judges of the various courts.

Leading members of the American bar have contended for some time that this country could learn much from a study of British methods of jurisprudence. Chief Justice Taft of the United States supreme court has himself made a personal study of the British courts and is counted among those who believe that every advantage of dignity should be given to the American courts. The chief justice has viewed with a great deal of satisfaction the pilgrimage the lawyers of this country are about to make abroad.

Committees of the American Bar association from time to time have gone on record as saying that greater respect for the law would flow from greater general respect for the courts of the land. It is perhaps a minor thing to say that gowning the lawyers as well as the bench would make for respect, but one who believes the experiment worth trying. He says there is no question but that the churches which have the greatest hold upon the congregations are those which go in the deepest for elaborate ritual and customs.

When the American lawyers return from Europe in late August and September, the whole subject will be threshed out and many interesting points of view are expected.

PAINTS ARE STRONG

CLEVELAND, May 16.—The paint business is holding up well. The Glidden Paint company reports that sales volume this month is ahead of May, 1923, and a similar report is reported by the Sherwin-Williams company. Indications point to a continuation of demand.

The University of Oxford was begun in 872 by King Alfred.

Industrial Boards To Inspect Plant of Fox-Woodsum Co.

Frank L. Fox of the Fox-Woodsum Lumber company, 714 East California avenue, has invited the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the industrial committee of the Glendale Realty Board and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to visit this plant on Monday morning, May 19.

At 10:30 o'clock he plans to conduct the members on an inspection of all departments of the institution and at noon will entertain them at luncheon at the Oakmont Country club. Mr. Fox is one of the members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

ALL CHINATOWN DOUBTS REPORT OF SUN'S DEATH

Make Plans for Protracted Period of Mourning if Rumors Are True

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Chinatown here was in a tumult today. Refusing to believe that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of South China, is dead, hundreds of excited men, women and children thronged the narrow, crooked streets.

Blanchard old men hastily left their pipes in alley hovels they had not deserted in years to join the crowds in front of bulletin boards. Chinese gardeners, in blue smocks, tea house girls in gay kimonos and bobbed hair women workers from Chinatown's sweat shops elbowed their way with modernly clad bankers and merchants in the search for word of the leader across the Pacific.

Headquarters of the Chinese Nationalist party, which financed Sun's attempt to grasp control of China, San Francisco Chinese being his heaviest financial backers, were besieged.

Before a large portrait of Sun, Chan Yow Foon, general secretary of the Nationalist party, stood and proclaimed to his people: "He is not dead; he is not dead!"

"But if he dies we will mourn long. We will parade; there will be speeches and with memorial services we will do him honor. Prepare for the word."

So while they scoffed at the report of Sun's death, the Chinese got ready to mourn. Hundreds of black cloth strips were torn to hang in darkened doorsteps. Incense sticks were piled high in black covered bowls and "mourning flowers" quickly appeared in shop windows.

An air of suspense clothed Chinatown. In many places business was stopped while shopkeepers disdressed their fronts. And many concerned of all were the anxious eyed barbers. For, if the president is dead, many of them will be forced out of business, as an ancient Chinese custom still followed in mourning the great is pledging not to shave or cut the hair for 100 days.

Stevens Mentions Thirty of Existing Dangers in Talk at Luncheon

that Marshal Stevens' lecture was the most interesting and instructive delivered at the club in months. The speaker used a number of stereopticon slides showing fire causes in connection with his address.

Dr. T. C. Young presided at the meeting in the absence of President A. L. Baird. Dr. Young is now first vice-president of the club, and has had charge of previous meetings. Dr. Jack Anderson led the singing, with Herbert Henning at the piano.

The attendance prize, donated by "Hil" Wilson, was won by Paul E. Stillman. Ben Dupuy, city engineer, gave a brief address on the work of his department in relation to the benefit to the general public.

Members of the Rotary club were guests of the Kiwanis club at the luncheon. George Karr, president of the Rotary club, spoke briefly on the boys' parade being held this afternoon, and asked the Kiwanis to be present.

Fred Deal told about the zone meeting held at Lankershim last night. Announcement of the baseball game tomorrow afternoon between the Kiwanis and Exchange clubs was made by George Lyons.

Frank Kerwin, manager of the White Sox ball team, was introduced by Mr. Lyons, and invited the members of the club to attend the game the Sox will play tomorrow afternoon as part of the Boys' Week program. Mr. Kerwin also told of the activities of the Sox team.

William Truitt announced the annual Kiwanis "jinx" picnic would be held on June 7. Norman Hayhurst told the members of the club about the Olympic tryouts to be held in Los Angeles on May 24.

Native Sons Wind Up Sacramento Meeting

SACRAMENTO, May 16.—Winding up their meeting by electing grand officers for the ensuing year and selecting San Francisco for Admission day celebration next year, when the order will celebrate its fiftieth birthday, the Grand Parlor of Native Sons of the Golden West adjourned its annual convention here today. Edward J. Lynch of San Francisco was named president of the order without opposition. John T. Regan of San Francisco was elected grand secretary and John E. McDougall, also of the Bay City, was made grand treasurer.

What Makes Waves Wild?

Upper left: what the sandwiches used to wear, and, upper right, what the more reserved among them will wear this summer. Movie beauties and athletic girls will follow the other styles shown below.

By MARGERY PICKARD

Freedom of the knees is more assured than freedom of the seas. That is the inevitable conclusion one reaches after visiting the style salons and reviewing the bathing costumes smart women will wear this summer. There is no doubt that the movie beach camps and athletic girls are radically influencing styles in bathing suits, for the costumes being shown this season are more abbreviated, even, than evening gowns.

The practice of the girl swimmers who will represent the United States in the Olympic meet of competing in the trials in costumes exposing large portions of the epidermis and permitting a maximum of motion in the water has had deadly effect in altering beach styles. That is what women who really like to swim are wearing.

For the boardwalk parades, of course, there are styles more elaborate.

FREED OF MURDER THREE YEARS OLD

Found Not Guilty on Charge of Killing Relative After Long Wait

ROME, May 16.—After being detained nearly three years on a charge of murdering his father-in-law and attempting to murder his mother-in-law, Captain Biselli, well known in Florentine society, has been tried and acquitted in the Bologna courts.

His trial is virtually without precedent in the Bologna province. First tried in the municipal courts of Florence, it was necessary to suspend the proceedings because of a demonstration in the court, when a crowd tried to lynch the accused. The case was then transferred to Bologna. It was alleged by the prosecution that the defendant was in straitened circumstances and tried to do away with his wife's parents in order that she might inherit their large fortune.

The charge was made that the accused tried to give the parents of his wife poisoned coffee. The defense proved that Biselli had for many years used a coffee substitute, and it was this which he offered to his wife's parents.

The trial lasted nearly two months, and more than 100 witnesses were heard.

Canadian Court Finds U. S. Legal Writs Long

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 16.—The endorsement of a writ in a Supreme court action in Canada is usually four short lines typed on the back of that document. Judge the surprise, therefore, when the Supreme Court Registrar at Victoria, B. C., received a writ with an endorsement running to a lineal measurement of four feet two inches.

Immigration Bill Sent to President For His Signature

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The new immigration bill, excluding all Japanese from the United States after July 1, went down the avenue to the White House today for President Coolidge's approval or veto.

The exclusion clause was adopted by overwhelming majorities in both House and Senate against the repeated protests of the president's Secretary of State Hughes. The fact that Secretary Hughes is said to have made of confidence led to reports the president contemplated vetoing the entire measure.

CARDS MAY MEET EASTERN PLAYERS

All Games, if Scheduled, to Be Played in West, as East Uncertain

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—That Stanford will follow the lead of the University of California and schedule post-season football games with an eastern eleven, appears certain.

Stanford's new football mentor, "Pop" Warner, formerly of Carlisle Indian and University of Pittsburgh fame, is strong for intercollegiate clashes, such as the California - Pennsylvania game, scheduled for Berkeley, Cal., next New Year's day.

Report has it that negotiations with several eastern colleges have already been started by Stanford for a series of games covering five years, starting in 1925.

The westerners, however, will always play at home, under present plans, and will not participate in any eastern games.

"I certainly am in favor of intercollegiate football games," Coach Warner said recently. "They are a splendid thing for the sport. However, I do not believe Stanford should go east for a game. This is because climatic conditions in the east after Christmas are so uncertain that scheduling of a game there would be unwise. Postponements because of storms might be necessary, thus keeping the boys away from their studies for considerable time. This would bring up much criticism."

"The Pennsylvania - California game will be a most interesting one, I am sure, and will attract wide attention."

Warner has opened spring practice here, and with plenty of candidates, including last year's team almost intact. The work this spring will be largely fundamental and will not be strenuous.

Ernie Nevers, great Pacific all-star fullback of 1923, will be the nucleus of Warner's team this fall and around this training camp will be built the aggregation touted to upset California—four-time champions in the Far West.

Scrub Women to Work 24 Hours Each Week

LONDON, May 16.—Twenty-four hours a week is long enough for any woman to scrub. That's official.

The London County Council Education subcommittee has met, pondered and decided that the scrub women in London schools shall have their hours of work reduced from 32 to 24 hours a week.

TELLS HOW HIS SMILE WAS LOST

Barrie Says Grin Missing After Winning Title of 'Plebiscite'

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service.

LONDON, May 16.—"Peter Pan" has been telling some secrets of his boyhood. Sir James Barrie, the shy, modest Scotsman, who created and immortalized "Peter Pan," turned back the leaves of time in an address to the girls of Wallace high school and revealed some of the secrets of his own school days. One of the secrets was why he so seldom smiles.

"I attended a mixed school in the south of Scotland," Sir James said, "and on one unfortunate day for me the girls took a plebiscite about which boy had the nicest smile. I won, with the result that I lost my smile."

"I suppose it is still jiggling about somewhere in the world, but it has never come back to me. A tragedy in a nutshell. The moral, the old one, trustful little boys, beware of girls."

Read Thrilling Books
"In those tender days," the reticent story-teller went on, "I used to devour secretly penny dreadfuls containing exclusively panguary matter. They were largely tales of heroic highwaymen and piracy on the high seas, but what most enticed me were the stories of the goings on at English boarding schools."

"Those were the schools for me. The masters were sneaks, and the boys blew them up with gunpowder. "In 'Chatterbox' I read an article on the dire future in store for those who did not study hard. I tried to stand up to it, but when black night fell I stole off to a distant field, my pockets stuffed with back numbers, a shovel concealed in my little waistcoat, and deep in the bowels of the earth I buried the evidence of my guilt."

Would Never Boast
"I noticed after the war it was a common thing for distinguished generals to revisit their old schools and to say, amid general rejoicings, that they had always sat at the bottom of the class. Well, if I was like that at least I shall never boast about it. Even the generals might have been still more wonderful in war if they had worked at school. Another hardy moral—not to work to miss the best of the fun."

Sir James approved of schools for girls.

"You can go from here," he told the girls who comprised his audience, "equipped, or nearly so, to live intelligently by your own work; to make a fair wage in interesting callings, and to be chosen for your jobs in preference to men because you have proved that you can do them better."

There must be hundreds of girls today doing important secretarial work for the one of a few years ago. A good few others already are flying higher than they used to be thought any girl could perch. It ought soon to make a

DECLARE THREE COMETS CAN BE SEEN THIS YEAR

Two Will Be Visible Next November, Experts of Navy Predict

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Three comets—those most mysterious of all heavenly wanderers—are due for a visit to the general vicinity of the earth and sun this year, the United States naval observatory has announced.

Astronomers throughout the country are preparing for the arrival of the derelicts from the great open spaces of the universe and expecting new discoveries of scientific interest.

The list of 1924 comets, prepared by the naval observatory, includes Encke and Tempel the First, in November, and Tuttle in December. In 1925, six comets are due in March, July, August and October.

Years Work Changes

The visitors were of the smaller variety of heavenly strangers on the last trips to the sun, but years of wandering in space may have brought about their diminution.

Should one of the great comets known to astronomers hurt itself into the earth, it is believed, the seas would boil and tidal waves would dash against the mountains; polar ice would melt and fires and suffocation sweep the globe, according to scientists at the United States Bureau of Standards.

Scientists frequently have speculated on destruction of the earth by a comet, but bureau of standards experts declare that the probability of such a catastrophe is highly remote. The earth with its 8,000 miles of diameter, a tiny star in the infinite expanses of the universe, is a poor target for the comets rushing through space more than 2,000 miles an hour.

What Would Happen

Government observers explained that should the earth pass close to the head of a comet, a great amount of gas would be absorbed. The diameter of the earth is 8,000 miles, but the diameter of the earth's 180,000-mile orbit would be changed, climate zones, and the length of the year might shift.

"Nevertheless, it is thought that in the untold ages of the past comets have collided with the earth. Such an explanation has been advanced to account for that curious gas that forms the valley of the Dead Sea, and the Jordan, and whose continuation has been traced across the Red sea and into Africa."

Don't Marry Baby Woman, Says Savant

VIENNA, May 16.—"Don't marry a 'baby woman,'" counsels Professor Reinhold Gerling.

The professor has been giving the young men of Vienna some advice on women not to marry. "There is no boy problem," he says. "It is a man problem. We are being looked up to by the boys and must be their leaders. If we hope to make this country more what we would desire it to be we must all work together with the boys, helping them to become the worthy citizens of the next generation."

Dr. H. R. Boyer, who presided over the meeting, turned it over to Dr. R. C. Logan after a snappy round of fines, whereupon a quartet comprising Dr. Logan, R. H. Smith, Dr. C. R. Lusby and A. H. Voelker sang "Solomon Levi" and "A Small Boy and a Tack."

Floating Bases for Airplanes Suggested

LONDON, May 16.—Floating ship bases are suggested by Commander C. Burney, the famous British aeronautical inventor, as a solution of the problem of the maintenance of a round-the-world airship service.

Burney maintains that floating bases would be more efficient than fixed land bases, and would move to any point and immediately providing gas and fuel, plant required by the airship.

Six months' jail sentences and thousand-dollar fines are the weapons used by Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville, Ill., who occupies the bench in the United States district court, in breaking up the booze traffic. Judge Lindley, who struck terror to Chicago bootleggers in February, while he was on the bench in that city, is hearing the Williamson county, Ill., liquor trials. What will happen in the 200-odd cases is indicated by the sentences already handed out in the numerous guilty pleas already entered in district court by Williamson county defendants.

COLE ADDRESSES OPTIMISTS' CLUB

Boy Problem Forms Topic of Minister at Luncheon of Local Chapter

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, addressed the Optimist club of Glendale this noon on "The Opportunity for Service Among Boys" at the weekly luncheon meeting held at the Harriet Mae Tea room on East Harvard street.

"There is no boy problem," the speaker said. "It is a man problem. We are being looked up to by the boys and must be their leaders. If we hope to make this country more what we would desire it to be we must all work together with the boys, helping them to become the worthy citizens of the next generation."

Bans Automatic Gun As Police Equipment

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Police Chief August Vollmer today told officers of his department at their semi-annual inspection that they must replace automatic revolvers with the good old-fashioned police pistols.

While the chief believes in innovations he does not approve of the ten-shot, self-action gun in the quarters, fights, particularly where the citizenry is apt to be wounded.

So it is that the police today are going "a-gunning" for new equipment.

Laborite Fussed When King Adjusts Red Tie

LONDON, May 16.—A member of the Labor cabinet at Buckingham Palace became quite embarrassed when the King intimated that the Laborite was deficient in his attire. The King smiled and then adjusted his tie. It was a red one. The Laborite's tie was not.

BUILDERS COVER HEART LONGINGS UNDER CONCRETE

Record of Labor and Love Yearnings Hidden for Last Two Decades

This is a story of buried treasure and of three young swains of a generation back, who hid the light of their matrimonial yearnings under a bushel—under several bushels of cement, to be exact.

It was while demolishing the old concrete upright at the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado street this forenoon preparatory to widening and paving the latter thoroughfare, that Peter L. Perry's road gang, under Foreman Jack Doran, came upon a yellow cardboard placard with the following scrawled in pencil:

THIS IS TO LET YOU KNOW, THAT THE FOLLOING NAMED MEN BILT THIS POST FOR THIS CORNER: DIXON, 413 TEMPEL, TREASURE, SPENCER, 329 SO. JACKSON, PRESIDENT, JALINDO, 325 NEW HIAP, SECTUARY, FEB. 20, 1906, GLENDALE, CAL. Eager For Bride

And, under the above, one had inscribed as a happy afterthought: THE FINEST LOT OF MEN THAT YOU EVER SAW. ARE ALL GOOD LOOKING YOUNG FELLOWS AND HAV THE DOW. WE ARE NOT MARRIED BUT WOULD LIKE TO IF WE COULD FIND SOMEBODY THAT WOULD HAVE US. GOOD BY TO ALL. LONG MAY WE LIVE AND BE HAPPY.

Bashful young men, to bury their longings in a concrete post, not to be opened for a generation! This lends truth to the contention that the modern swain is bolder than his brother of twenty years back—for what 1924 model sheik would entomb the burlings of his heart and wait two decades for the message to reach the feminine world?

Klan Issue Injected In Oregon Primaries

PORTLAND, Ore., May 16.—A fight for "third party" supremacy in Oregon politics between the Ku Klux Klan and the Federation of Patriotic Societies was expected to be somewhat settled today as voters went to the polls in the state preferential primary election.

The Klan has entered its fight in attempting to defeat Congressman N. J. Sinnott with George T. Cochran, the religious issue being raised.

Calvin Coolidge is assured the great majority of Republican votes over Senator Hiram Johnson and William G. McAdoo is unopposed for Democrat favor for president.

English Lords Will Sell Gowns and Hats

LONDON, May 16.—Lords and duchesses are pretty well engaged in the business world in England these days, but the Earl of Halsbury has given the clubmen something to talk about by entering the millinery and dressmaking business.

Lady Duff-Gordon is the mother-in-law of Lord Halsbury, who has made a reputation for himself in the legal world and is also an amateur actor and playwright.

RAILROAD MEN TO WORK WAGE BOOST

Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees on List

By O. L. SCOTT, Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News.

CHICAGO, May 16.—Brotherhoods of railway and steamship men, freight handlers, express and station employees are preparing to submit to the railroads, requests for wage advances amounting to approximately 12.6 per cent of their present earnings. Over 275,000 employees are to be included in the request which if granted would mean an additional burden of nearly $55,000,000 annually on the railroads.

Increased living costs, inadequacy of present wages, a general upward trend in wages of other industries, and increased efficiency and loyalty of employees, are given as reasons for the proposed request for better wages.

Plan to Expand Motor Truck Service

By GUY T. ROCKWELL, Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News.

CLEVELAND, May 16.—The success which has attended the hauling of freight between Cleveland and Erie, Pa., on motor trucks by the New York Central Railroad will lead to the extension of bus operation for short hauls on other parts of the system, especially west of Toledo according to railroad officials.

The trucks which have been taken in this district to reduce waste in the steel mills. Reduction of steel prices has been rumored but one leading official declared today a $10 a ton cut in prices would not serve to stimulate business under present conditions.

STORE SALES OFF

Hot Water Bottle Is Used as Liquor Cache

DENVER, May 16.—Mrs. Anna Drivat had an entirely new method of evading the capture of bootleg evidence by the cops. "She had a hot water bottle filled with booze," said Officer Moore, of the Denver forces. This was concealed in her dress. While we were raiding the place she dropped the hot water bag. Everybody scrambled for it, but she got it and bit a hole in it with her teeth, letting the evidence splash out. We saved enough to bring to court, however.

One Filipino is allowed at the Naval academy for each class.

Co-eds Not to Mingle With Men at Stadium

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 16.—Syracuse University's pretty femininity won't be allowed to mingle with the collegiate male sex at football games in Archbold Stadium next fall. Even though a strong masculine arm placed around a fur coat will go a long way in keeping a co-ed warm in the chilly November breeze, George B. ("Cy") Thurston, graduate manager of athletics, and representatives of the senior council decided that the men's and women's cheering section had better remain in opposite sides of the stadium.

Poor Shot With Gun Is Saved From Death

NEW YORK, May 16.—Just before Philip De Angelo, committed to Sing Sing, was sentenced he was told that his poor marksman-ship had probably saved him from a death penalty. He got one year and eight months to four years for shooting Nicholas Telerico in Newburgh. The bullet entered close to the heart but Telerico finally recovered.

There is a tunnel, through which a water supply flows, under the Hudson at a depth of 1,114 feet below sea level.

WAR ON FLIRTS

BELFAST, May 16.—This city will be no place for flirts of both sexes in the near future if a campaign now being waged by the Belfast clergy bears fruit. The clergy are combining in uttering serious warnings to young people to have nothing to do with the flirting fraternity, and declare that "flirts are disgusting." As a protest against this campaign, girls are to be seen on the sidewalks, displaying handkerchiefs inscribed with such phrases as "I love you!" "Do you love me?" or "I like you," which they flaunt in the face of every likable young man they meet. Some girls are reported to be carrying handkerchiefs inscribed "Don't flirt with me!" as a protection against male flirts.

CATALINA PICKED FOR SCOUT CAMP

Verdugo Hills District Will Send Seventy-five on Summer Outing

at camp than you are dodging automobiles on your home town streets."

In preparation for the opening of the camp a pioneer squad of first class Scouts will go over a week ahead of time and fix up the camp. Every one will sleep under canvas.

The menu for each meal is to be carefully planned out in advance by Mr. Cheesman, who has successfully run Scout camps for seven years. He assures parents that special care will be taken in providing plenty of plain, well cooked, wholesome food in properly balanced menus. Two experienced adult cooks will prepare the "eats."

The camp cost for each boy will be $12.50. In addition to this it is costing the district council something over $5 for every boy that goes to camp to pay for the cost of hiring expert adult supervision, setting up the camp, freight charges, camping equipment, stoves, kitchen utensils, etc.

As for the capacity of the camp, it will accommodate 75 boys, and the boys who get their applications in first will be the lucky ones for each camp. All reservations must be made by June 14.

Mr. Cheesman will be in charge of the camp, assisted by an adult assistant camp director and a group of scoutmasters. Members of the camping department of the Verdugo Hills council are Roy L. Kent, president; Frank C. Ayars, Glendale; Dr. Charles M. Hensley, Eagle Rock; Maurice S. Jones, Burbank; A. C. Cox, La Crescenta and Montrose; Earl Brunner, Tujunga.

For the older or first class Scouts a camping trip in the High Sierras is to be held August 26 to September 4. "This will be a ten-day trout fishing trip through the highest mountains in the United States," says Mr. Cheesman. "We will visit nine beautiful lakes near Mt. Whitney and the wonderful Red Rock Canyon will be seen on the Mojave desert on the road up."

Bullfrog Lake Camp "We will travel by automobile. 230 miles to Independence, Calif. then bedding will be packed on mules up over Kearsarge Pass, 11,500 feet elevation, and down to our camp on Bullfrog Lake. We will make fishing trips to different lakes and streams from there. Cooking will be done by organized Scout patrols under adult supervision. We will pack our own bedding, etc., back down to Independence, where we will take the auto trucks for home."

The cost of this trip for each of the thirty-six Scouts will be $14.85. Those getting their reservations in first will be chosen to make the trip.

Mr. Cheesman will personally direct the trip, assisted by four adult scoutmasters. Mr. Cheesman supervised a successful Scout trip last summer of Scouts from Ventura county. He has had six years' experience in the United States forestry service and seven years' experience as a Scout executive, so he is well qualified for the proposed trip for the Glendale boys.

MANY NEW POWER PROJECTS PLANNED

Applications to State Dept
Of Water Rights Total
Over $6,000,000

SACRAMENTO, May 16.—New hydro-electric power projects in northern California entailing expenditures estimated at more than $6,000,000 are disclosed in the report of permits granted by the State Department of water rights during March.

G. de Bretteville of San Francisco was given a permit to develop 250 cubic feet per second and 30,000 acre feet for generation of electricity on the Middle Fork of the Yuba river. The cost is placed at $3,000,000.

Granted Two Permits The Pacific Gas & Electric company was given two permits, one for water from Fordyce creek in Nevada county and the other for water from Bear river in Nevada and Placer counties. Development of more than 25,000 horse power is projected and the cost of each plan is placed at $745,000.

Application was made by the Oakdale irrigation district for 60,000 acre feet per annum from the middle fork of the Stanislaus River, for domestic purposes and irrigation of 74,246 acres. The cost is placed at $1,500,000.

Bishop Takes Rap at Supercilious Puritan

LONDON, May 16.—Puritans who elevate supercilious noses at innocently "worldly" amusements are "dangerous people," according to the Bishop of Lichfield.

"Christian people," the bishop asserted in a recent address, "are too apt to tread with heavy feet in dealing with the subject of recreation. A superior attitude," he said, "was to be deprecated."

"A certain class of Puritans," he said, "would class all indoor amusements such as dancing, the drama, picture palaces and broadcasting, as worldly and hold that a Christian has no business having anything to do with them. You cannot define the 'world' as easily as that. I have known actors and actresses who were most unworldly people, and I have known dull, pietistic people who never went within a mile of a theatre, but whose whole life was corroded with the world."
